Capital and the Common Good Georgia Levenson Keohane,2016-09-27 Despite social and economic advances around the world poverty and disease persist exacerbated by the mounting challenges of climate change natural disasters political conflict mass migration and economic inequality While governments commit to addressing these challenges traditional public and philanthropic dollars are not enough Here innovative finance has shown a way forward by borrowing techniques from the world of finance we can raise capital for social investments today Innovative finance has provided polio vaccines to children in the DRC crop insurance to farmers in India pay as you go solar electricity to Kenyans and affordable housing and transportation to New Yorkers It has helped governmental commercial and philanthropic resources meet the needs of the poor and underserved and build a more sustainable and inclusive prosperity Capital and the Common Good shows how market failure in one context can be solved with market solutions from another an expert in securitization bundles future development aid into bonds to pay for vaccines today an entrepreneur turns a mobile phone into an array of financial services for the unbanked and policy makers adapt pay for success models from the world of infrastructure to human services like early childhood education maternal health and job training Revisiting the successes and missteps of these efforts Georgia Levenson Keohane argues that innovative finance is as much about incentives and sound decision making as it is about money When it works innovative finance gives us the tools motivation and security to invest in our shared future

Crimea, Global Rivalry, and the Vengeance of History Hall Gardner, 2016-04-30 Gardner examines the causes and consequences of Russia's annexation of Crimea By analyzing alliance formations and the consequences of other annexations in world history the book urges an alternative US NATO European Japanese strategy toward both Russia and China in the effort to prevent a renewed arms race if not global war

The Report: Saudi Arabia 2015 Oxford Business Group, 2015-09-22 While Saudi Arabia's economy remains dominated by its hydrocarbons sector several other sectors have emerged in recent years as key propellers of economic growth The Kingdom's financial services industries have continued to expand steadily despite the liquidity challenges posed by falling oil prices Trade and investment are being treated as key priorities as the government looks to negotiate this altered economic landscape aiming to leverage its large population high per capita income and many sea and air links The country's capital markets sector meanwhile is poised for a period of significant growth on the back of the opening of Tadawul to international investors in 2015 and the raft of regulatory upgrades implemented as result The domestic insurance industry which remains dominated by the motor and medical segments has enjoyed double digit growth over the past five years in both revenue and net profit Elsewhere the targets outlined in Vision 2030 indicate that a period of greater opportunity and integration is on the horizon for private players operating in core sectors such as health care utilities industry and ICT

Discrimination based on Colour, Ethnic Origin, Language, Religion and Belief in Turkey's Education System Nurcan Kaya, 2015-10-27 The Turkish government is urged to make a fundamental shift in its approach to education by Minority Rights Group International MRG in a new report. A long standing focus on state building has been supplemented by increasing emphasis on religious teaching. Both feature strongly in the education system in Turkey making schools a focus of discrimination. The report 'Discrimination based on Colour Ethnic Origin Language Religion and Belief in Turkey's Education System' reveals evidence of discrimination of minority groups and suggests comprehensive reforms to effectively ensure equality. The national education system which for decades aimed to create young Turkish nationalists has in recent years become a vehicle for raising young religious Turkish nationalists says Nurcan Kaya Turkey Coordinator of Minority Rights Group International. Religious education is compulsory from grade four in primary schools. While some information on world religions has been introduced the emphasis remains on teaching Sunni Muslim religious practices. Children of Jewish and Christian families may apply to opt out but the process can be cumbersome and in many schools alternatives are not provided for them. Non Muslim students who have opted out can still find themselves having to remain in the religious instruction class or alternatively having to wander in the school corridor making them vulnerable to taunts from pupils and even teachers. The opt out possibility is still not available to children of other minorities. Another issue is mother tongue education. In 2012 a new elective on the living languages and dialects in Turkey was introduced but due to various limitations minorities remain marginalised others in the education system. Subsequent to the 2012 reform the report monitors discrimination in the formal education system in the period of the academic year of 2014-2015. The findings are based on the field work of the Monitoring Discrimination in Education Network an alliance of 16 organizations working in Turkey. The report compiles numerous cases of discrimination based on language religion ethnicity skin colour and the level of income. In order to bring about a fundamental solution to these problems in the education system the government must prioritise developing an approach that sees all groups as equal and that responds to demands for rights based on such an understanding of equality says Kaya. The report highlights that Turkey has no anti discrimination law or an equality commission to which victims of discrimination can apply. The existing legislation contains no effective and accessible means of judicial remedies or compensation. Therefore many discriminatory practices are not reported to school administrations. The entire education system is based on Turkishness. Non Turkish groups are either not referred to or referred in a negative way says Kaya. Education system has played a significant role in deepening conflict in society. The positive representation of other groups in the education system would contribute to social peace and harmony. In order to resolve the many problems in the education system that the current approach causes the overall aim of government education policy should be cleared of ideological references and the protection of children's best interests and the right to education in line with international standards should be considered its fundamental goal says the report.
