databases as simple as keyword search like Google search This book surveys the recent developments on keyword search over databases and focuses on finding structural information among objects in a database using a set of keywords Such structural information to be returned can be either trees or subgraphs representing how the objects that contain the required keywords are interconnected in a relational database or in an XML database The structural keyword search is completely different from finding documents that contain all the user given keywords The former focuses on the interconnected object structures whereas the latter focuses on the object content The book is organized as follows In Chapter 1 we highlight the main research issues on the structural keyword search in different contexts In Chapter 2 we focus on supporting structural keyword search in a relational database management system using the SQL query language We concentrate on how to generate a set of SQL queries that can find all the structural information among records in a relational database completely and how to evaluate the generated set of SQL queries efficiently In Chapter 3 we discuss graph algorithms for structural keyword search by treating an entire relational database as a large data graph In Chapter 4 we discuss structural keyword search in a large tree structured XML database In Chapter 5 we highlight several interesting research issues regarding keyword search on databases The book can be used as either an extended survey for people who are interested in the structural keyword search or a reference book for a postgraduate course on the related topics
