Contemporary African Cinema Olivier Barlet,2016-08-01

African and notably sub Saharan African film s relative eclipse on the international scene in the early twenty first century does not transcend the growth within the African genre This time period has seen African cinema forging a new relationship with the real and implementing new aesthetic strategies as well as the emergence of a post colonial popular cinema Drawing on more than 1 500 articles reviews and interviews written over the past fifteen years Olivier Barlet identifies the critical questions brought about by the evolution of African cinema In the process he offers us a personal and passionate vision making this book an indispensable sum of thought that challenges preconceived ideas and enriches an approach to cinema as a critical art

Cinemas of the Black Diaspora Michael T. Martin,1995

This is a study of the cinematic traditions and film practices in the black Diaspora With contributions by film scholars film critics and film makers from Europe North America and the Third World this diverse collection provides a critical reading of film making in the black Diaspora that challenges the assumptions of colonialist and ethnocentrist discourses about Third World Hollywood and European cinemas Cinemas of the Black Diaspora examines the impact on film making of Western culture capitalist production and distribution methods and colonialism and the continuing neo colonial status of the people and countries in which film making is practiced Organised in three parts the study first explores cinema in the black Diaspora along cultural and political lines analysing the works of a radical and aesthetically alternative cinema The book proceeds to group black cinemas by geographical sites including Africa the Caribbean and South America Europe and North America to provide global context for comparative and case study analyses Finally three important manifestoes document the political and economic concerns and counter hegemonic institutional organising efforts of black and Third World film makers from the 1970s to the early 1990s Cinemas of the Black Diaspora should serve as a valuable basic reference and research tool for the study of world cinema While celebrating the diversity innovativeness and fecundity of film making in different regions of the world this important collection also explicates the historical importance of film making as a cultural form and political practice
