Defining the Fringe of Contemporary Australian Archaeology Rocco Bosco, Darran Jordan, 2018-04-18 Popular culture has often presented a mythologised version of archaeology that at times misinforms the general public about broader academic intentions The fantastic and bizarre continue to capture the public imagination so that while archaeological teams excavate survey and record they occupy the same geographic locations as ghost tour operators and seekers of the supernatural Not only does archaeology operate within the same geography as modern mythology but widespread access to technology from satellite imagery to GPS data means that enthusiastic amateurs can partake in their own investigations With limited landscape identification training an enthusiasm for discovery and strange cultural biases fringe operators have utilised new technologies to justify old fallacies through variant forms of amateur archaeology This collection draws on the wealth of work currently being undertaken by contemporary archaeologists in Australia from rock art observations to art archaeology experiments and even space archaeology It explores archaeology on the edge contextualising the fringe dwellers that operate on the periphery of accepted academia It also looks at contemporary archaeological theory and practice in relation to these fringe operators developing approaches toward interaction in contrast to the more common reaction of repudiation The relationship between the accepted centre and the outer edge in contemporary archaeological practice and theory unveils much about popular misconceptions and how archaeological spaces can be overlaid with variant mythological and cultural interpretations

Showcasing Space Martin J. Collins, 2005 This volume explores the meaning of space artifacts both as products of particular historical settings and as windows for understanding technological and cultural change Seven contributors most of whom are museum curators address these challenges through the history of particular artifacts highlighting differences and commonalities across technologies institutions professional communities projects and geographical contexts The essays sample the broad range of space activity from launch vehicles to satellites and space capsules from military to commercial and scientific purposes They include an exploration of the Black Arrow rocket project in Britain the European Launcher Development Organization the Apollo 204 spacecraft in the United States the Iridium commercial global satellite communications system the Soviet space program and rocket recovery in Australia What stories can space artifacts tell What kinds of information and experiences might real objects convey that images and representations do not Do they speak for themselves or do they represent a dense sediment of human agency culture and technology needing interpretation by experts And more particularly in what ways do space artifacts originating in Cold War culture pose historiographic questions and issues that do not arise from artifacts with other histories Questions such as these speak to the Artifacts series purpose To explore the overlapping interests of museums and historians of science and technology in understanding artifacts as well as presenting that understanding to scholarly and general publics This series is sponsored by the Science Museum in London UK the Deutsches Museum in Munich Germany and the Smithsonian Institution in Washington DC US three of the world s great repositories of material heritage in the history of technology Journal of the Institution of Petroleum Technologists Institute of Petroleum (Great Britain),1959 Vols 7 include Abstracts which beginning with v 9 form a separately paged section and from v 17 on have separate title pages

Liberty Bell 7 Colin Burgess,2014-03-19 NASA s Mercury astronauts were seven highly skilled professional test pilots Each of them seemed to possess the strength of character and commitment necessary to overcome apparently insurmountable obstacles as the United States entered into a Cold War space race with the Soviet Union This was never more evident than on the epic suborbital MR 4 flight of Liberty Bell 7 with astronaut Virgil Gus Grissom piloting the spacecraft to a successful splashdown followed by the premature blowing of the craft s explosive hatch After a hurried exit and struggling to stay afloat he could only watch helplessly as the recovery helicopter pilot valiantly fought a losing battle to save the sinking capsule That day NASA not only lost a spacecraft but came perilously close to losing one of its Mercury astronauts a decorated Korean fighter pilot from Indiana who might one day have soared to the highest goal of them all as the first person to set foot on the Moon For the first time many of those closest to the flight of Liberty Bell 7 and astronaut Gus Grissom offer their stories and opinions on the dramatic events of July 21 1961 and his later pioneering Gemini mission They also tell of an often controversial life cut tragically and horrifically short in a launch pad fire that shocked the nation
