2. How many genetically different gametes can be produced from a diploid cell with seven chromosomes pairs? Explain your answer.

Answer: The number of genetically different gametes that can be produced is equal to 2^n where n is total number chromosomes pairs. A diploid cell with seven chromosomes pairs contains gametes of 2^7 or 128 genetically different gametes.

3. Although you observed a combination of traits from your parents, you recognize that some traits carry the less frequent chromosomes. (For example, hair color and eye color). Why may some traits be inherited together?

Answer: Traits are inherited together and travel on the same chromosome. Chromosomes have the same genes associated with them, and a chromosome only has one copy. Some traits, such as hair color and eye color, will be found on the same chromosome in the genome, or, said, linked. They will be inherited together.

4. Describe the alignment of chromosomes during prophase I, write the sequence.

During prophase I, chromosomes condense and homologous chromosomes align together, called synapsis. This is a synapsis because it allows the crossing over to occur and results in the genetic recombination.

5. How does recombination lead to chromosomal polymorphism number? Describe two types of genetic mutations that can result from recombination.
