 offenders or juvenile justice administration Victim-offender Mediation in the Juvenile Justice System Stella Platt Hughes, 1990 Resources in Education , 2001 Insight Into Corrections , 1995-04 Youth Justice in Context

Mairéad Seymour, 2013 Youth Justice in Context examines the influence of legislative organizational policy and practice issues in shaping what constitutes compliance and how non compliance is responded to when supervising young offenders in the community. It also addresses the impact of adolescent developmental immaturity and social and personal circumstances in mediating expectations of compliance. A central concern of the book is to explore the manner in which compliance changes over time through the dynamics that arise in the supervisory relationship between practitioners and young people and against the backdrop of the social and psychological changes that occur in adolescents' lives as they move towards early adulthood. A detailed examination is provided based on the perspectives of probation and youth justice professionals operating across different organizational contexts and of young people subject to community supervision. To this end the book offers in depth analysis on the strategies employed by practitioners in promoting compliance and responding to non compliance. It also provides unique insights into young people's perceptions of the supervision process, their motivations to comply and their perspectives on desistance from offending. This book offers an alternative perspective to policies and practices that focus primarily on stringent enforcement and control measures in responding to non compliance. Youth Justice in Context is suited to academics, researchers, students, policy makers, social workers, probation officers, youth justice workers, social care workers and other practitioners working with young people in the criminal justice system. Child and State, 1905. Criminal Careers Witold Klaus, Irena Rzeplińska, Dagmara Woźniakowska-Fajst, 2022-12-30. Criminal Careers follows the lives and criminal behaviours of 2 397 people in Poland who as juveniles committed a crime and received a form of punishment from the juvenile court between the late 1980s and the year 2000. Through combining quantitative and qualitative research, their criminal careers, the differences between men and women, risk factors and reasons for non-desistance are analysed. Uniquely, the authors have used an extensive database of former juveniles in which as many as 40% were women. This book therefore makes a comparison between women and men in terms of their future life paths. Additionally, the researched group consisted of teenagers from two different periods: the 1980s, the transition generation, and 2000, the millennial generation, which in the context of Central and Eastern European countries means that they entered adulthood in completely different realities. These differences are therefore also explored in depth within the book. By focusing on Poland, the book provides a different perspective to criminal career research, which is generally limited to a few countries in Western Europe and the United States. The book will be of great interest to academics and students who are developing their own research in the fields of criminal careers, juvenile delinquency and antisocial behaviours by young people. It will also appeal to professionals including juvenile judges, probation officers, staff in correctional facilities and social rehabilitation institutions, social workers and employees of nonprofit organisations that support juveniles, people in crisis and prisoners or ex-prisoners.
