Chapter 1 – Functions – Characteristics and Properties

Chapter 1.1- Functions

In Summary

Key Ideas

- A function is a relation in which there is a unique output for each input. This means that each value of the independent variable (the domain) must correspond to one, and only one, value of the dependent variable (the range).
- Functions can be represented graphically, numerically, or algebraically.

Graphical Example	Numerical Examples	Algebraic Examples
	Set of ordered pairs: $\{(1, 3), (3, 5), (-2, 9), (5, 11)\}$ Table of values: <table data-bbox="689 459 919 609"><thead><tr><th>x</th><th>y</th></tr></thead><tbody><tr><td>-2</td><td>-4</td></tr><tr><td>-1</td><td>1</td></tr><tr><td>0</td><td>0</td></tr><tr><td>1</td><td>1</td></tr><tr><td>2</td><td>-4</td></tr></tbody></table> Mapping diagram: 	x	y	-2	-4	-1	1	0	0	1	1	2	-4	$y = 2 \sin(3x) + 4$ or $f(x) = 2 \sin(3x) + 4$

Need to Know

- Function notation, $f(x)$, is used to represent the values of the dependent variable in a function, so $y = f(x)$.
- You can use the vertical line test to check whether a graph represents a function. A graph represents a function if every vertical line intersects the graph in, at most, one point. This shows that there is only one element in the range for each element in the domain.
- The domain and range of a function depend on the type of function.
- The domain and range of a function that models a particular situation may need to be restricted, based on the situation. For example, negative values may not have meaning when dealing with variables such as time.

Standards-based School Mathematics

Curricula Sharon L. Senk,Denisse R. Thompson,2020-07-24 The Curriculum and Evaluation Standards for School Mathematics published by the National Council of Teachers of Mathematics in 1989 set forth a broad vision of mathematical content and pedagogy for grades K 12 in the United States These Standards prompted the development of Standards based mathematics curricula What features characterize Standards based curricula How well do such curricula work To answer these questions the editors invited researchers who had investigated the implementation of 12 different Standards based mathematics curricula to describe the effects of these curricula on students learning and achievement and to provide evidence for any claims they made In particular authors were asked to identify content on which performance of students using Standards based materials differed from that of students using more traditional materials and content on which performance of these two groups of students was virtually identical Additionally four scholars not involved with the development of any of the materials were invited to write critical commentaries on the work reported in the other chapters Section I of Standards Based School Mathematics Curricula provides a historical background to place the current curriculum reform efforts in perspective a summary of recent recommendations to reform school mathematics and a discussion of issues that arise when conducting research on student outcomes Sections II III and IV are devoted to research on mathematics curriculum projects for elementary middle and high schools respectively The final section is a commentary by Jeremy Kilpatrick Regents Professor of Mathematics Education at the University of Georgia on the research reported in this book It provides a historical perspective on the use of research to guide mathematics curriculum reform in schools and makes additional recommendations for further research In addition to the references provided at the end of each chapter other references about the Standards based curriculum projects are provided at the end of the book This volume is a valuable resource for all participants in discussions about school mathematics curricula including professors and graduate students interested in mathematics education curriculum development program evaluation or the history of education educational policy makers teachers parents principals and other school administrators The editors hope that the large body of empirical evidence and the thoughtful discussion of educational values found in this book will enable readers to engage in informed
