The Education Systems of Europe Wolfgang Hörner,Hans Döbert,Botho von Kopp,Wolfgang Mitter,2007-05-03 Education is a paradoxical phenomenon On the one hand it is universal as since the period of Enlightenment it has been declared universal good for everybody Mo over we learnt by historical research following the ideas of world system theory that since this time as far as its main structures are concerned compulsory state education given by professional teachers in classrooms it took even universal traits However on the other hand the fact that education became state education organised or at least controlled by the state was the beginning of another tradition line education in the form of state organised educational institutions became a means of creating national identity Universal inclusion as for the light of reason shining for everybody is opposed to more or less nationalist exclusion of all the others shaping the feature of a particular nation state with a particular educational system This fundamental dialectical tension between the universal and the particular was one to the important motives to make this handbook One of the central issues of the country studies is precisely to display the relationship between universal v ues and the search for national identity Another motive is given by the European dimension of the handbook

Social Studies Education in South and South East Asian Contexts Kerry J Kennedy, 2021-07-22

The education of young people is context bound This edited volume explores the contexts that characterise South and South East Asia and their influence on social studies education There is not a single context across this broad geographical expanse rather different religions different political systems and different values exert influences that create distinctive programmes that characterise different countries Yet there are also commonalities such as the post colonial nature of most of the countries portrayed in this book determined efforts at establishing new national communities and multiple value systems that lead to distinctive local priorities There are also voices of resistance in these chapters recognising the realities of local contexts but also recognising the need for change Social studies education in these contexts may well be descended from its origins in North America but in South and South Asian contexts it has taken on new purposes new forms and new values Education researchers policymakers and postgraduate students in comparative education will find the volume useful in its exploration and comparison of the social studies curricular and reforms that shaped them

Pre-Service Teacher Education and Induction in Southwest China Ju Huang, 2018-09-12

This book is a narrative inquiry that focuses on four participating Chinese teacher candidates cross cultural learning in Canada and stories of induction in Southwest China Through the lens of three dimensional inquiry space and reciprocal learning in teacher education the author explores the influence of cross cultural experiences on the dissonance of pedagogies teacher student relationships socialization and beliefs about teaching and learning that interweave global and national curriculum boundaries The chapters provide insight into how Chinese beginning teachers struggle to voice and to socialize among a cacophony of past practices lived experiences and cross cultural experiences
