Walker (Jr.), 1964 Anatomy and Dissection of the Fetal Pig Warren F. Walker, Dominique G. Photo Manual and Dissection Guide of the Fetal Pig Fred Bohensky, 2004-02-29 The Bohensky Dissection Series has been used successfully by more than 300 000 biology students nationwide Each book in the series is designed to guide the student through the study of anatomical structures The books do this through the use of clearly marked photographs and illustrations Accompanying text offers the student both easy to follow dissection instructions and factual information about the section under observation At the end of each chapter there are tests which can be used for self study or for grade course evaluation Within the traditional dissection portion of a biology course many programs include the sheep heart eye and brain Within many of these guides the author has incorporated photographs of these structures to more closely follow standard course curriculum The author also provides important information on human organs such as the eye ear and heart In this way the student can better understand the role and function of these organs as they relate to human life processes Add to this each book s large size format lay flat spiral binding and reasonable cost and you can see why the Bohensky Dissection Series has become one of the most successful dissection guides used throughout this country s schools Flinn Scientific Fetal Pig Dissection Guide Flinn Scientific, Incorporated, 2009-12 Fetal Pig Dissection Manual with Human Anatomy Lab Guide Set Connie Allen, 2003-03-01 Virtual Fetal Pig Dissection as an Agent of Knowledge Acquisition and Attitudinal Change in Female High School Students Rebecca S. Maloney, 2002 One way to determine if all students can learn through the use of computers is to introduce a lesson taught completely via computers and compare the results with those gained when the same lesson is taught in a traditional manner This study attempted to determine if a virtual fetal pig dissection can be used as a viable alternative for an actual dissection for females enrolled in high school biology classes by comparing the knowledge acquisition and attitudinal change between the experimental virtual dissection and control actual dissection groups Two hundred and twenty four students enrolled in biology classes in a suburban all girl parochial high school participated in this study Female students in an all girl high school were chosen because research shows differences in science competency and computer usage between the genders that may mask the performance of females on computer based tasks in a science laboratory exercise Students who completed the virtual dissection scored significantly higher on practical and objective tests that were used to measure knowledge acquisition Attitudinal change was measured by examining the students attitudes toward dissections computer usage in the classroom and toward biology both before and after the dissections using pre and post surveys Significant results in positive gain scores were found in the virtual dissection group2s attitude toward dissections and their negative gain score toward virtual dissections Attitudinal changes toward computers and biology were not significant A purposefully selected sample of the students were interviewed in addition to gathering a sample of the students2 daily dissection journals as data highlighting their thoughts and feelings about their dissection experience Further research is suggested to determine if a virtual laboratory experience can be a substitute for actual dissections or may serve as an enhancement to an actual dissection
