Write It A Magazine for Young Authors

September

Volume 1, Number 1

Have you ever thought about bringing words to life? That is exactly what authors do. They use words to create and tell stories. Write a story, make your pictures as close to the real thing as you can. Bill Martin Jr., Bill Clark, and John Gorton are authors of children's books. This article explains how they do it and shows how you can become a better writer.

Becoming an Author

by James King

Bill Martin Jr.

Bill Martin Jr. was born in 1926. He grew up in Boston. Reading was not easy for Bill. He had difficulty learning to read and often became discouraged.

When Bill was a young boy, his grandmother told him stories. She listened to her son's stories. Bill learned how to listen.

Bill's fifth-grade teacher read books aloud from home each day. While she read, she talked to him. Bill learned to read faster than the other boys in his class.

As a college student, Bill Martin Jr. was excited to write books. He was excited. Bill was nervous about his teacher. He was nervous he had difficulty reading. The teacher told him that good readers become good writers.

He had heard that words were important. He had heard that words were important. He had heard that words were important.

He had heard that words were important. He had heard that words were important. He had heard that words were important.

He had heard that words were important. He had heard that words were important. He had heard that words were important.

He had heard that words were important. He had heard that words were important. He had heard that words were important.

As the year of 1950 ended in New York, Bill Martin Jr. was excited. He was excited. He was excited. He was excited. He was excited.

He was excited. He was excited. He was excited. He was excited. He was excited. He was excited. He was excited. He was excited.
