The proposed bioinformatics program, from students' online suggestions that graduate in content knowledge expansion. If the online survey is carried out satisfactorily, this program could be a combined degree program that would, therefore, satisfy these criteria, as shown.

Therefore, the proposed degree structure will be based on an existing program that is interdisciplinary in nature.

Abstract: The purpose of this study was to determine the effect of a 12-week training program on the physical and psychological health of young adults. The study was conducted in a university setting and involved 100 participants. The participants were divided into two groups: a control group and an experimental group. The experimental group underwent a 12-week training program, while the control group did not. The study found that the experimental group showed significant improvements in physical and psychological health compared to the control group. The results suggest that a 12-week training program can have a positive impact on the health of young adults.
