The Rhetorical Invention of America's National Security State Marouf Hasian Jr., Sean Lawson, Megan D. McFarlane, 2015-07-29

The Rhetorical Invention of America's National Security State examines the rhetoric and discourse produced by and constitutive of America's national security state. Hasian, Lawson, and McFarlane illustrate the importance of rhetoric to the expansion of the American national security state in the post 9/11 era through their examination of the global war on terrorism, enhanced interrogation techniques, drone crew stress activities, Edward Snowden's rise, Special Forces, and popular representations of counterterrorism. The coauthors contend this expansion was not the result of lone imperial executives or a nefarious state within a state but was co-produced by elite and non-elite Americans alike who not only condoned but also in many cases demanded the expansion of the national security state. This work will be of interest to scholars in communication studies and political science.
