Dall'Agnola, Aijan Sharshenova, 2023-10-13 This open access book explores some of the struggles and challenges that researchers and practitioners face when conducting research in the Central Asian research setting. Written for scholars still in the planning stages of their research, it addresses key questions including: How shall we problematize and reconceptualize the concept of positionality through lenses of local voices from the region? How do practitioners and scholars' positionality contribute to their experiences of inclusion/exclusion and access to the field? How do scholars navigate issues of personal safety and mental well-being in the more closely monitored societies of Central Asia? The book includes contributors from both Central Asia and Western countries, paying particular attention to the ways researchers' subjectivity shapes how they are received in the region, which in turn influences how they write about and disseminate their research. In featuring an even greater variety of voices, this book fills an important gap in the literature on field research and knowledge production in and on Central Asia.
