Disrupting Secondary STEM Education Margery Gardner,2024-12-19 This volume brings into focus the pivotal educational years during adolescence when many learners are exposed to implicit and explicit messages that STEM is not a viable educational pathway for them Challenging this notion Disrupting Secondary STEM Education brings together a collective of critical educators who share what disruptive STEM teaching looks and feels like from an insider perspective as well as the ways they purposefully create curriculum to subvert existing structures that can confine learning Through disruptive STEM teaching a joy for learning is kindled as well as a sense of empowered criticality in students that can support their development as global citizens facing complex futures The collection shares stories across a spectrum of educators from those beginning their teaching journey to those who've stood up against narrow curriculum and standardized testing for years in the capacity of both P 12 teachers and teacher educators The voices of these educators illustrate how the work of disruptive STEM teaching can be actualized within cohorts of future teachers achieved through early engagement with critical theories and generative field experiences that support and affirm a wide array of identities This book provides multiple theoretical and practical access points for the reader to understand the work of disruptive STEM teaching and offers a way forward for those interested in developing more critical curriculum in their own classrooms As such it will be important reading for postgraduate students and researchers in Social Justice Education and STEM Education as well as for in service educators

East Meets West in Teacher Preparation Wen Ma, 2014 The teacher training profession is searching for new ideas to prepare the next generation of teachers who can successfully educate 21st century students At the same time there is an increase in foreign born professors with one of the most significant groups originating from China East Meets West in Teacher Preparation gives voice to teacher educators from Chinese backgrounds who are now teaching in America's colleges With this unique book the field can learn about Chinese educational thinking and practices directly from educators who have personal and professional knowledge of both the United States and Chinese systems Readers will come to understand how these bilingual educators view and speak about their lived experiences and perspectives across the Pacific shores how they reflect on and articulate the similarities and differences between educational systems in the United States and China what strategies they use to navigate through complex sociocultural boundaries as well as what possibilities exist for the two systems to learn from each other This important book will help educators prepare for the intersection already developing between Chinese and American teaching approaches and practices
