prospects of individuals but also for economic interests of post industrial knowledge societies Thus numerical development is at the core of both individual as well as societal interests There is the notion that we are already born with a very basic ability to deal with small numerosities Yet this often called number sense seems to be very restricted approximate and driven by perceptual constraints During our numerical development in formal e g school but also informal contexts e g family street we acquire culturally developed abstract symbol systems to represent exact numerosities in particular number words and Arabic digits refining our numerical capabilities In recent years numerical development has gained increasing research interest documented in a growing number of behavioural neuro scientific educational cross cultural and neuropsychological studies addressing this issue Additionally our understanding of how numerical competencies develop has also benefitted considerably from the advent of different neuro imaging techniques allowing for an evaluation of developmental changes in the human brain In sum we are now starting to put together a more and more coherent picture of how numerical competencies develop and how this development is associated with neural changes as well In the end this knowledge might also lead to a better understanding of the reasons for atypical numerical development which often has grievous consequences for those who suffer from developmental dyscalculia or mathematics learning disabilities Therefore this Research Topic deals with all aspects of numerical development findings from behavioural performance to underlying neural substrates from cross sectional to longitudinal evaluations from healthy to clinical populations To this end we included empirical contributions using different experimental methodologies but also theoretical contributions review articles or opinion papers

Cooperative and Work-Integrated Education in Asia Yasushi Tanaka, Karsten Zegwaard, 2018-09-28 It has been over a century since Cooperative System of Education a work study programme for higher education was initiated by Herman Schneider at University of Cincinnati in the United States Today it is known as Cooperative Education which is commonly included within the umbrella term of Work Integrated Learning and broadly referred to by the World Association of Cooperative Education WACE as Cooperative and Work Integrated Education CWIE Its development worldwide has been closely related to the socioeconomic background of the region This book offers the first attempt to focus on the development of CWIE in Asia To date the development of CWIE in the Asia region has been slow compared to their counterparts The analysis follows international comparisons of China Japan Korea Hong Kong Vietnam Thailand Malaysia and Singapore on their educational history vocational education CWIE and future issues Although the level of development varies among them there is no doubt that this region as a whole is experiencing a rapidly growing global demographic and economic prominence CWIE can and to some extent already does play an important supportive role as part of growth The book goes on to conclude that in order to enable further successful expansion of CWIE and improve its best practice it is imperative to establish national and regional associations for CWIE as well as establish collaborative research activities across the region with governmental funding support Indian Trade Journal, 1956 How to improve immune reconstitution in allogeneic hematopoietic stem cell transplantation? Antoine Toubert, Hermann Einsele, 2015-03-12 Allogeneic haematopoietic stem cell transplantation allo HSCT is widely used in the treatment of haematological malignancies as a form of immunotherapy acting through a graft versus leukemia GvL reaction This curative allogeneic response can be associated with severe drawbacks such as frequent and severe graft versus host disease GvHD and a long lasting immunodeficiency especially now with the development of innovative strategies such as umbilical cord blood transplantation or transplants from haplo identical family donors Haplo HSCT In the long term follow up of these patients severe post transplant infections relapse or secondary malignancies may be directly related to persistent immune defects Reconstitution of the different lymphocyte populations B T NK NKT and antigen presenting cells of myeloid origin monocytes macrophages and dendritic cells should be considered not only quantitatively but especially qualitatively in terms of functional subsets Immune deficiency leading to an increased susceptibility to infections lasts for more than a year Although infections that occur in the first month mostly result from a deficiency in both granulocytes and mononuclear cells MNC later post engraftment infections are due to a deficiency in MNC subsets primarily CD4 T cells and B cells T cell reconstitution has been extensively studied because of the central role of T cells in mediating both GvHD evidenced by the reduced incidence of this complication following T Cell depletion and a GvL effect as shown by DLI In the recent years there has been renewed interest in the role of NK cells especially in the context of Haplo HSCT and in B cell reconstitution This Frontiers Research Topic will provide state of the art knowledge of the mechanisms of immune reconstitution in an allogeneic environment in order to improve monitoring and therapeutic intervention in allo HSCT patients
