

Dear Parents and Teachers,

It is my desire that you find in these pages a method of learning for your student that promotes a variety of styles of learning. Drawing from my own experience as a public school teacher and then a homeschooling mother, this is written to be a companion to the 4th grade Social Studies textbook, Harcourt Reflections: A Child's View. I have gathered online worksheets and created comprehension questions and hands-on projects to excite your child. Through this, I hope that your student is better able to comprehend and gain knowledge of the world around them. The hands-on activities will usually require some type of adult or parental involvement or supervision. In these pages your student has the opportunity to do the following projects: make a map of the neighborhood, make a posterboard of American symbols, "sew" a family quilt, and make a face mask, along with other activities. I have included what I have as a starting point for you as a teacher or parent, but only you know your child. If you need to modify the extent of the question or activity, feel free to do so.

The chart on the next page will detail what is read in the textbook, along with questions and activities that can be printed or completed electronically and kept for teacher or parent use. I have included a short pre-assessment to be given before reading each unit. You may choose to compose these to the reviews at the end of each unit to evaluate your student's degree of learning.

Happy learning!

~Jennifer Anderson

success for the full spectrum of learners Each model strengthens the other Understanding by Design is predominantly a curriculum design model that focuses on what we teach Differentiated Instruction focuses on whom we teach where we teach and how we teach Carol Ann Tomlinson and Jay McTighe show you how to use the principles of backward design and differentiation together to craft lesson plans that will teach essential knowledge and skills for the full spectrum of learners Connecting content and kids in meaningful ways is what teachers strive to do every day In tandem UbD and DI help educators meet that goal by providing structures tools and guidance for developing curriculum and instruction that bring to students the best of what we know about effective teaching and learning     Introduction to Educational Measurement Victor Herbert Noll,1965     Educational Psychology Angela M. O'Donnell,Johnmarshall Reeve,Jeffrey K. Smith,2011-12-06 Teachers help students learn develop and realize their potential To become successful in their craft teachers need to learn how to establish high quality relationships with their students and they need to learn how to implement instructional strategies that promote students learning development and potential To prepare pre service teachers for the profession the study of educational psychology can help them to better understand their students and better understand their process of teaching Such is the twofold purpose of Educational Psychology to help pre service teachers understand their future students better and to help them understand all aspects of the teaching learning situation The pursuit of these two purposes leads to the ultimate goal of this text namely to help pre service teachers become increasingly able to promote student learning development and potential when it becomes their turn to step into the classroom and take full time responsibility for their own classes     Modern Miller ,1911     Forum ,1983
