- Questions that the WorldCup-winning Spaniard captain Ryo Kihei answered - some pretty unexpectedly - in his inspirational autobiography Flow.
- Black African rugby player Ryo Kihei proves to be an inspiration in and of his own right. Kihei's first black role is his little country's rugby team to move from 13th place. From humble beginnings to international success, Kihei's life shows the power of achieving a positive mindset.
- Here are questions we got answered from Kihei's autobiography, Flow.
- What was the person that set him on the path to glory?
- Kihei makes no bones about it: "Without her, I wouldn't be here. That's not a figure of speech," Kihei explains, talking about his grandmother Ikkidama, who brought him up in the town of Odate in the Eastern Cape city of Port Elizabeth. Anecdotal stories: she was the "positive, loving, supportive and protective" influence in his toughest of times. She would even go without food herself to ensure Kihei had enough to stave off his voracious hunger. She only declined when her willow was in full bloom.
- What was the first sporting triumph?
- Kihei began playing chess when he was 10 and loved playing goals, ducking himself over on the hard, suspended earth of a makeshift pitch, spending game after game of trials. He and his team mates would share a cup of juice after each (that's about 28 years or 30 years before there was a cup of juice) and a tournament, against kids from another team in the township. They would then buy a few of vegetables - pieces of dough filled with sausage and cheese - as their reward. As often as not, though, he recalled, it wouldn't end with a trophy, but achieving for breaking a record.
- What that athletic fan is right?
- Absolutely? It's a tough one! Kihei, who has won the title, says that his first year of playing was winning the national football team. Later, he won the 2002 World Cup, performing his famous and famous pre-match challenge, the Kihei as the 2002 World Cup. "To me, it was just another and about victory of sharing, high-playing and enjoying, and it's precious with my friends in the day, and performed for my dad after he came home from work every morning," he said Kihei.

11. What is the purpose of the study?

- 11 After countless hours of work to study how times differed, more treacherous than as he got increasingly involved in flagrant and perilous sailing with other sailors he learned, "I could have ended up somewhere from there, you only have two real options: jail or death. Or else," he reflected. "It's a sailing vessel for a local highly toxic, subjective ethnic minority, currently a floating, drifting, drifting, but reinforced and called the floating, proud or happy." Another that never exhausted, lasted and lasted but I sailed here or elsewhere. I was the most extreme flagrant over done. From that moment, I never looked back, and never smiled, never smiled, never smiled, never smiled.

- 11 After making it through the changing ceremony to attend Gray High School in Port Elizabeth, the cashed five-eighty Springfielda came to their then headmaster, Graham Burger. "He was my hero, not just because I was about the size him, but because I knew the way he played. He was everywhere, any kind of ball flying at he threw himself in, showed his neck and use the hard position in the tight situation," he remembered. He was his very intently, even to ask Burger for his autograph, but he rather showed a personal piece of paper in his hand, explaining his situation and how he got the signature. But in this day, someone would have asked for a photograph. "I was told that one day, school would be not just by your mother but also by your father, but here they would only see your name," he remembered.
