My belief about myself as a learner when I entered the class was a positive one. I attended a college prep school for high school and went to Oregon State University last year. I had plenty of practice with different learning techniques and found what works well for me. I believe I'm more of a visual learner than an auditory learner. It is easier to see a powerpoint and retain the knowledge then listen to a lecture and have the same retention. Entering the class I thought I liked working in groups more than working individually on projects, but that has since changed. I think it is more beneficial to me to work alone because I can get more done. When I entered the class I believed that reading the material closer to the due date was a better idea because I may not remember what I had read if I didn't.

What I have discovered about myself, as a learner over the term is vast. I learned that I can read the material way in advance and just briefly skim over the text and remember just about everything, were as I thought reading closer was more beneficial. I also learned that working in groups really isn't my specialty. I prefer working by myself because I'm able to get a lot more done and not have to worry about other people forgetting their part of the project. I don't like having to worry about other people not following through. I also learned that looking at the daily record in advanced helped me

Empowering Online Learning Curtis J. Bonk, Ke Zhang, 2009-10-29 This is an essential resource for anyone designing or facilitating online learning. It introduces an easy practical model R2D2: read, reflect, display, and do that will show online educators how to deliver content in ways that benefit all types of learners: visual, auditory, observational, and kinesthetic from a wide variety of backgrounds and skill levels. With a solid theoretical foundation and concrete guidance and examples, this book can be used as a handy reference, a professional guidebook, or a course text. The authors intend for it to help online instructors and instructional designers as well as those contemplating such positions design, develop, and deliver learner-centered online instruction. Empowering Online Learning has 25 unique activities for each phase of the R2D2 model as well as summary tables helping you pick and choose what to use whenever you need it. Each activity lists a description, skills addressed, advice, variations, cost, risk, and time index, and much more. This title is loaded with current information about emerging technologies: e.g., simulations, podcasts, wikis, blogs, and the Web 2.0. With a useful model, more than 100 online activities, the latest information on emerging technologies, hundreds of quickly accessible Web resources, and relevance to all types and ages of learners, Empowering Online Learning is a book whose time has come. Teaching Social Justice Brandi Lawless, Yea-Wen Chen, 2021-08-15 The intercultural communication classroom can be an emotionally and intellectually heavy place for many students and teachers. Sensitive topics arise, and students must face complex issues with intellectual curiosity and collegial respect. To navigate the precarious waters of intercultural communications, teachers need an intentional approach to foster meaningful discussion and learning. This pedagogical guide presents conceptual overviews, student activities, and problem-solving strategies for teaching intercultural communication. The authors navigate eight categories of potential conflict, including communicating power and privilege, community engagement in social justice, and assessing intercultural pedagogies for social justice. In addition to empirical studies and the authors' own classroom experiences, the book features the personal narratives of junior and senior intercultural communication teacher scholars whose journeys will encourage and instruct readers towards more fulfilling teaching experiences. Teaching and Learning in a Concept-Based Nursing Curriculum Ignatavicius, Donna D. Ignatavicius, 2017-09 Resource added for the Nursing Associate Degree 105431, Practical Nursing 315431, and Nursing Assistant 305431 programs. Teaching Science With Interactive Notebooks Kellie Marcarelli, 2010-05-18 Easy to read with good examples and illustrations. The rationale is spelled out for every step; the setup for the interactive notebook is clearly explained, and you can hear the enthusiasm of the author, which makes the reader enthusiastic about trying the strategy. Maria Mesires, Seventh Grade Science Teacher, Case Middle School, Watertown, NY. In an era when science teachers are being asked more and more to teach writing skills and build science literacy, this book presents an engaging and creative way to answer that challenge and encourage the use of higher-order thinking skills. Michael Baker, Eighth Grade Science Teacher, Memorial Middle School, Albany, OR. Increase
