

The background of the entire image is a misty, mountainous landscape. In the foreground, there is a small, circular stone building with a dark, arched entrance. The building has a thatched roof and is surrounded by a low stone wall. The mountains in the background are covered in dense vegetation and shrouded in mist, creating a sense of mystery and isolation.

Excavating the Medieval Image David S. Areford, 2017-11-30 Medieval images especially manuscript illuminations have long been treated independently of the contexts in which they were created These beautiful miniature paintings frequently valued as keepers of documentary evidence or as curious artistic commodities have only recently become the focus of art historians concerned with new questions related to artistic working methods audience and the status of the visual in the Middle Ages and the modern era Excavating the Medieval Image argues that the illuminated image is best understood as thoroughly integrated in the material context of the manuscript and thus integrated in a cultural context of production and reception Seen in this way the illuminated manuscript becomes a kind of archaeological site which must be carefully unearthed layer by layer The fourteen essays gathered here are written by scholars of both medieval and Renaissance art history and demonstrate varied methodological approaches that combine the pursuits of traditional connoisseurship and iconography with those of critical theory and historiography In addition the authors contribute more broadly to important interdisciplinary issues such as the study of gender text and image and the history of literacy and the book Excavating Q John S. Kloppenborg, 2000 In this tour de force the author offers a comprehensive introduction to the study of Q the collection of Jesus sayings long hypothesized as the source for the canonical gospels of Matthew and Luke Part I deals with the methods for studying Q their presuppositions and a survey of current research Part II addresses more theological and theoretical issues relevant to the Synoptic Problem Q as a document its redaction and its social setting Geological

Disasters in Deep Engineering Mechanism, Warning and Risk mitigation Guang-Liang Feng, Fengqiang Gong, Chi Zhang, Shibing Huang, 2023-06-15 With the increasing demand for infrastructure construction as the global economy progresses the need for exploration and utilization of deep underground space becomes more crucial Various deep underground projects are planned are under construction and have been built to encounter great construction challenges due to the complex geo environment such as strong tectonic movement fragile geo environment and complex thermo hydro mechanical chemical conditions These deep engineering projects could be endangered by different kinds of geological disasters such as intense rockburst large deformation strong water inrush and large scale collapse which might result in massive loss of life and economic damage during the construction of deep underground projects It is necessary to take proactive measures to ensure that the development of deep engineering projects is risk informed and sustainable Efforts are being called for strengthening science and technology innovation and cooperation in geological disaster mitigation and sustainable development during the construction of deep engineering projects It is paramount to use new technologies and international cooperation to jointly tackle the geological disasters risks and achieve sustainable development To mitigate the risk of geological disaster in deep engineering under the complicate geo environment the mechanism of the formation and evolution of geological disasters in deep engineering needs to be understood The testing monitoring simulation risk assessment and early warning methods for geological disaster in deep engineering are also needed urgently New theories methods and techniques related to the mechanism warning and risk mitigation of geological disasters in deep engineering will be extremely helpful for the construction safety of deep engineering Excavating Memory Ülker Gökberk,2020-09-29

This study moves the acclaimed Turkish fiction writer Bilge Karasu 1930 1995 into a new critical arena by examining his poetics of memory as laid out in his narratives on Istanbul s Beyo lu once a cosmopolitan neighborhood called Pera Karasu established his fame in literary criticism as an experimental modernist but while themes such as sexuality gender and oppression have received critical attention an essential tenet of Karasu s oeuvre the evocation of ethno cultural identity has remained unexplored Excavating Memory brings to light this dimension Through his non referential and ambiguous renderings of memory Karasu gives in his Beyo lu narratives unique expression to ethno cultural difference in Turkish literature and lets through his own repressed minority identity By using Walter Benjamin s autobiographical work as a heuristic premise for illuminating Karasu G kberk establishes an innovative intercultural framework which brings into dialogue two representative writers of the twentieth century over temporal and spatial distances Suspended Music

Excavating Women Magarita Díaz-Andreu, Marie Louise Stig Sorensen, 2005-08-11 Archaeologists are increasingly aware of issues of gender when studying past societies women are becoming better represented within the discipline and are attaining top academic posts However until now there has been no study undertaken of the history of women in European archaeology and their contribution to the development of the discipline Excavating Women discusses the careers of women archaeologists such as Dorothy Garrod Hanna Rydh and Marija Gimbutas who against all odds became famous as well as the many lesser known personalities who did important archaeological work The collection spans the earliest days of archaeology as a discipline to the present telling the stories of women from Scandinavia Mediterranean Europe Britain France Germany and Poland The chapters examine women's contributions to archaeology in the context of other often socio political factors that affected their lives It examines issues such as women's increased involvement in archaeological work during and after the two World Wars and why so many women found it more acceptable to work outside of their native lands This critical assessment of women in archaeology makes a major contribution to the history of archaeology It reveals how selective the archaeological world has been in recognizing the contributions of those who have shaped its discipline and how it has been particularly inclined to ignore the achievements of women archaeologists Excavating Women is essential reading for all students teachers and researchers in archaeology who are interested in the history of their discipline and its sociopolitics

Excavating the Afterlife Guolong Lai, 2015-03-02 In Excavating the Afterlife Guolong Lai explores the dialectical relationship between sociopolitical change and mortuary religion from an archaeological perspective By examining burial structure grave goods and religious documents unearthed from groups of well preserved tombs in southern China Lai shows that new attitudes toward the dead resulting from the trauma of violent political struggle and warfare permanently altered the early Chinese conceptions of this world and the afterlife The book grounds the important changes in religious beliefs and ritual practices firmly in the sociopolitical transition from the Warring States ca 453 221 BCE to the early empires 3rd century 1st century BCE A methodologically sophisticated synthesis of archaeological art historical and textual sources Excavating the Afterlife will be of interest to art historians archaeologists and textual scholars of China as well as to students of comparative religions Art History Publication Initiative For more information visit <http://arthistorypi.org/books/excavating-the-afterlife> Honorable Mention for the 2016 Society for American Archaeology Book Award in the Scholarly Category Advances in Geotechnical Engineering & Geoenvironmental Engineering Shanzhi Shu,Jinfeng Wang,Mena Souliman,2021-07-13 This book includes a collection of researches that contains research data discussions and conclusions focusing on several related geotechnical aspects of infrastructure Topics include issues related to civil infrastructure such as temperature induced lateral earth pressure on bridge abutment subsidence of high speed rail and expressway application of recycled rubber mats railway ballast evaluation hurricane protection floodwall tunnel portal stability deep excavation case study and properties of contaminated soils Various types of research were used in the various studies including field measurements numerical analyses and laboratory measurements This findings and results should lead to more resilient infrastructure design maintenance and management which will provide benefits to both civil engineering practitioners researchers and students Excavating the Power of Memory in Japan Glenn D Hook,2018-02-02 Excavating the power of memory offers a succinct examination of how memory is constructed embedded and disseminated in contemporary Japanese society The unique range and perspective of this collection will provide an understanding not found elsewhere It starts with a lucid introduction of how memory plays a political and wider social role in Japan Four case studies follow The first takes up the divergence in memory at the national and subnational levels by analysing the memory of the battle of Okinawa and US military accidents in Okinawa prefecture illuminating how memory in the prefecture embeds Okinawans as victims of mainland Japan and of the United States The second explores whether Japan s membership of the International Criminal Court represents a shift in the Japanese government s negative remembrance of the International Military Tribunal for the Far East demonstrating how both courts are largely portrayed as being disconnected in political debates The third offers an analysis of the surviving letters of the Kamikaze pilots in order to interrogate and compare their presumed identity in the dominant collective memory and their own self identities The fourth untangles how the memory of winds in Japanese fishing communities remains an expression of social thought that presides over the transmission of meaning about fishermen s geographical surroundings This book was previously published as a special issue of the Japan Forum Homer's Daughters Fiona Cox,Elena Theodorakopoulos,2019-10-03 This collection of essays examines the various ways in which the Homeric epics have been responded to reworked and rewritten by women writers of the twentieth and early twenty first centuries Beginning in 1914 with the First World War it charts this understudied strand of the history of Homeric reception over the subsequent century up to the present day analysing the extraordinary responses both to the

Odyssey and to the Iliad by women from around the world The backgrounds of these authors and the genres they employ memoir poetry children s literature rap novels testify not only to the plasticity of Homeric epic but also to the widening social classes to whom Homer appeals and it is unsurprising to see the myriad ways in which women writers across the globe have played their part in the story of Homer s afterlife From surrealism to successive waves of feminism to creative futures Homer s footprint can be seen in a multitude of different literary and political movements and the essays in this volume bring an array of critical approaches to bear on the work of authors ranging from H D and Simone Weil to Christa Wolf Margaret Atwood and Kate Tempest Students and scholars of not only classics but also translation studies comparative literature and women s writing will find much to interest them while the volume s concluding reflections by Emily Wilson on her new translation of the Odyssey are an apt reminder to all of just how open a text can be and of how great a difference can be made by a woman s voice

Meltdown in Tibet Michael Buckley, 2014-11-11 Tibetans have experienced waves of genocide since the 1950s Now they are facing ecocide The Himalayan snowcaps are in meltdown mode due to climate change accelerated by a rain of black soot from massive burning of coal and other fuels in both China and India The mighty rivers of Tibet are being dammed by Chinese engineering consortiums to feed the mainland s thirst for power and the land is being relentlessly mined in search of minerals to feed China s industrial complex On the drawing board are plans for a massive engineering project to divert water from Eastern Tibet to water starved Northern China Ruthless Chinese repression leaves Tibetans powerless to stop the reckless destruction of their sacred land but they are not the only victims of this campaign the nations downstream from Tibet rely heavily on rivers sourced in Tibet for water supply and for rich silt used in agriculture This destruction of the region s environment has been happening with little scrutiny until now In Meltdown in Tibet Michael Buckley turns the spotlight on the darkest side of China s emergence as a global super power
