Southern Identity and Southern Estrangement in Medieval Chinese Poetry Ping Wang, Nicholas Morrow Williams, 2015-01-01 From ancient times China's remote and exotic South a shifting and expanding region beyond the Yangtze River has been an enduring theme in Chinese literature For poets and scholar officials in medieval China the South was a barbaric frontier region of alienation and disease But it was also a place of richness and fascination and for some a site of cultural triumph over exile The eight essays in this collection explore how tensions between pride in southern culture and anxiety over the alien qualities of the southern frontier were behind many of the distinctive features of medieval Chinese literature They examine how prominent writers from this period depicted themselves and the

South in poetic form through attitudes that included patriotic attachment and bitter exile By the Tang dynasty poetic symbols and clichés about the exotic South had become well established though many writers were still able to use these in innovative ways Southern Identity and Southern Estrangement in Medieval Chinese Poetry is the first work in English to examine the cultural south in classical Chinese poetry The book incorporates original research on key poets such as Lu Ji Jiang Yan Wang Bo and Li Bai It also offers a broad survey of cultural and historical trends during the medieval period as depicted in poetry The book will be of interest to students of Chinese literature and cultural history Ping Wang is assistant professor of Chinese at University of Washington Seattle Nicholas Morrow Williams is research assistant professor at the Mr Simon Suen and Mrs Mary Suen Sino Humanitas Institute Hong Kong Baptist University A long overdue appreciation of the South as a center for the production of medieval Chinese literature as well as a focal point of Chinese cultural and intellectual reflection and identity this collection of essays by a stellar roster of leading scholars offers an immensely rich contribution to the study of classical Chinese poetry Martin Kern Greg 84 and Joanna P13 Zeluck Professor in Asian Studies Princeton University This book presents a systematic study of how the symbol of the southland was reinvented in medieval Chinese literature taking readers on a cultural and geographic journey to survey the continuous rewriting of the South and its identity Yu Yu Cheng Distinguished Professor of Chinese Literature National Taiwan University Exile's Children Angus Wells, 2012-01-11 Part One Of The Exiles Saga In the peaceful land of Ket Ta Witko the People have lived for generations in harmony kept from trouble by their Seers guiding dreams But not even those talents are proof against the powers of love and love thwarted When a blood feud escalates into violence the People find themselves beset by a race of implacable demons intent on destroying everything they hold dear And their one chance at redemption lies worlds away in the harsh and dismal prison colony of Salvation where a tavern girl a gambler and a young boy with the forbidden talent for True Dreaming have been unjustly accused and bound into a lifetime of servitude Individually they are helpless Together they may alter the future forever Post-Apartheid Same-Sex Sexualities Andy Carolin, 2020-12-30 This book examines how same sex sexualities are represented in several post apartheid South African cultural texts drawing on a rich local archive of same sex sexualities that includes recent fiction drama film photography and popular print culture While the book situates these texts within the specific context of post apartheid South Africa it also looks outwards towards transnational connectivity and cultural flows The author uses the idea of restlessness to refer to the uneven flow of cultural tropes political sentiment ideas ideologies and representational modes across geographical boundaries across time and space and between genres presenting sexual cultures as simultaneously rooted and transnational He focuses on how notions of race and gender in the shadow of colonialism and apartheid play out in the present and shape how sexualities are represented This interdisciplinary book offers a conceptual entry point to several areas of study including transnationalism literary and cultural studies critical race theory gender and sexuality studies and African studies and will be of interest to students and researchers across these fields

Gutiérrez,2004-07-20 Latinos are now the largest so called minority group in the United States the result of a growth trend that began in the mid twentieth century and the influence of Latin cultures on American life is reflected in everything from politics to education to mass cultural forms such as music and television Yet very few volumes have attempted to analyze or provide a context for this dramatic historical development The Columbia History of Latinos in the United States Since 1960 is among the few comprehensive histories of Latinos in America This collaborative interdisciplinary volume provides not only cutting edge interpretations of recent Latino history including essays on the six major immigrant groups Mexicans Cubans Puerto Ricans Dominicans Central Americans and South Americans but also insight into the major areas of contention and debate that characterize Latino scholarship in the early twenty first century This much needed book offers a broad overview of this era of explosive demographic and cultural change by exploring the recent histories of all the major national and regional Latino subpopulations and reflecting on what these historical trends might mean for the future of both the United States and the other increasingly connected nations of the Western Hemisphere While at one point it may have been considered feasible to explore the histories of national populations in isolation from one another all of the contributors to this volume highlight the deep transnational ties and interconnections that bind different peoples across national and regional lines Thus each chapter on Latino national subpopulations explores the ambiguous and shifting boundaries that so loosely
