Resettlement with People First Susanna Price, Jay Drydyk, 2023-12-01 Should people in the way lose out as new reservoirs mines plantations or superhighways displace them from their homes and livelihoods What if the process of resettlement were made accountable to those impacted empowering them to achieve just outcomes and to share in the benefits of development projects This book seeks to answer these questions putting forward powerful counterfactual case studies to assess what problems real world development projects would likely have avoided if the project had included the affected people in decision making about whether and how they should resettle Drawing on contributions from leading and emerging scholars from around the world this book considers cases involving dams mines roads and housing amongst others from Asia Africa and South America In each case the counterfactual approach invites us to reconsider how the dynamics of accountability play out through resettlement hazards and the asymmetries of power relations in the negotiation of displacement benefits and redress Considering a range of theoretical and ethical perspectives the book concludes with practical alternative policy suggestions for displacement arising both from development and from slow onset climate change This book s novel approach focussing on the people s agency in the dynamics of governance accountability and dis empowerment in development projects with displacement and resettlement will appeal to academic researchers development practitioners and policymakers

Indigenous Knowledge and Climate Governance Eromose E. Ebhuoma,Llewellyn Leonard,2022-06-04 This book investigates indigenous knowledge systems IKS in sub Saharan Africa thereby highlighting its role in facilitating adaptation to climate variability and change and also demystifying the challenges that prevent it from being integrated with scientific knowledge in climate governance schemes Indigenous people and their priceless knowledge rarely feature when decision makers prepare for future climate change This book showcases how Indigenous knowledge facilitates adaptation to climate change including how collaborations with scientific knowledge have cascaded into building people s resilience to climatic risks This book also pays delicate attention to the factors fueling epistemic injustice towards Indigenous knowledge which hampers it from featuring in climate governance schemes across sub Saharan Africa The key insights shared in this book illuminate the issues that contribute meaningfully towards the actualisation of the UN SDG 13 and promote mechanisms for raising capacity for effective climate change related planning and management in sub Saharan Africa
