This book explores the relationship between sexuality and politics in Britain s recent political past in the decade preceding the Covid 19 pandemic and asks what sexual meanings and logics are embedded in the dominant political discourses and policies of this time A discursive framing of exceptionality has commonly attached to the politics of austerity crisis and neoliberalisation that have characterised the 2010s in Britain with many noting the depoliticising effects of such a crisis politics The book s four case studies each investigate a binary concept that has played a key role in these limited and limiting discourses the stable family troubled family deserving undeserving public private and material cultural Deploying an expansive notion of sexuality these binaries are examined by analysing a range of cultural and political texts in which they are reproduced from policy and legal documents to popular films and TV series This empirically informed and theoretically innovative analysis makes an important contribution to understandings of sexuality identity and inequalities as well as of crisis and neoliberalism It will be of interest to scholars and students in gender and sexuality studies cultural studies sociology politics and social policy Engaging Children in Vast Early America Julia M. Gossard,Holly N.S.

White,2024-09-02 Engaging Children in Vast Early America examines the often overlooked roles that children played in moments of contact between Indigenous groups Europeans and Africans in North and South America over the course of the seventeenth through nineteenth centuries Adulthood is the default lens through which most of history is examined This is because so few historians analyze the age or life stage of those they study As a result people of the past are often assumed to be adults when their actions or experiences align more closely with what modern society deems adultlike Many of these assumed adults however were agentive children This collaborative collection is the first of its kind to invite experts in the field of Vast Early America to engage with the history of childhood and youth The result is nine innovative essays that expand our understanding of childhood and agentive children but also of empire and everyday life in Vast Early America This accessible text is a unique resource for undergraduate courses in childhood and youth history family history and early

American history Community Resilience Katy Wright, 2021-11-29 This book provides an alternative perspective on community resilience drawing on critical sociological and social policy insights about how people individually and collectively cope with different kinds of adversity Based on the idea that resilience is more than simply an invention of neoliberal governments this book explores diverse expressions of resilience and considers what supports and undermines people's resilience in different contexts Focusing on the United Kingdom it examines the contradictions and limitations of neoliberal resilience policies and the role of policy in shaping how vulnerabilities are distributed and how resilience is manifested The book explores different types of resilience including planning response recovery adaptation and transformation which are examined in relation to different types of threat such as financial hardship disasters and climate change It argues that resilience cannot act as an antidote to vulnerability and aims to demonstrate the importance of shared institutions in underpinning resilience and in preventing socially created vulnerabilities It will be of interest to academics students and well informed practitioners working with the concept of resilience within the subject areas of Sociology Social Policy Human Geography Environmental Humanities and International Development Hospitality in a Time of Terror Lindsay Anne Balfour, 2017-11-02 Hospitality in a Time of Terror Strangers at the Gate offers a reading of hospitality that suggests the encounter with strangers is at the core of cultural production and culture itself in the aftermath of the terrorist attacks of September 11 2001 It documents the significance of hospitality after the terrorist attacks particularly as such an ethics is so provocatively raised or disavowed by a predominantly visual and cultural archive that has been and continues to be consumed by millions of people around the world This book utilizes works of cultural memory film art and literature that show the breadth of hospitality's influence but that offer a depth of insight historical specificity and theoretical intensity that only a product created in the aftermath of 9/11 allows The September 11 Memorial and Museum in New York City for example is best understood as an institution defined by the question of hospitality particularly as hospitality is engaged or disavowed through an experience with loss This book also considers how hospitality might function in consideration of the violence perpetuated against bodies marked by discourses of race gender and sexuality as is the case in the 2011 film Zero Dark Thirty and separately explores how alternative modes of hospitality are enabled by the fluid and dynamic space of the street and the urban art found there The final chapter examines Don DeLillo's 2007 novel Falling Man and argues that the novel demonstrates a sustained engagement with hospitality through the figure of organic shrapnel a metaphor that suggests the possibility of being literally and figuratively embedded by another The purpose of this book is to point out the diverse and even devastating ways that hospitality appears in ways that remind us that if hospitality as we understand it is failing it matters more than ever how we deploy it Possibilities and Complexities of Decolonising Higher Education Aneta Hayes, Kathy Luckett, Greg William Misiasek, 2023-03-31 The chapters in this book highlight the possibilities and complexities of putting decolonial theory to work in higher education in Northern and Southern contexts across the globe

This book looks at decolonial work as praxis involving transformation at a range of levels from theoretical development national policy institutional policy and culture academic discipline programme course classroom student and the self Our authors argue that praxis in their contexts includes working at institutional level to undo the historical power of coloniality in universities in the metropolises introducing Indigenous knowledges into curricula and undoing the effects of coloniality in embodiment temporality and whiteness We as editors argue for the need for transformation of the self as well as structures and highlight qualities such as reflexivity on our own entanglements with coloniality and why they occur in this undoing The approach offered in this book emphasises the connection between significant personal change as a pre condition and an epistemological process to connect critical decolonial theory and our teaching practice The book was originally published as a special issue of the journal Teaching in Higher Education
