The War Lawyers Craig Jones, 2020-11-26

Over the last 20 years, the world's most advanced militaries have invited a small number of military legal professionals into the heart of their targeting operations spaces, which had previously been exclusively for generals and commanders. These professionals, trained and hired to give legal advice on an array of military operations, have become known as war lawyers. The War Lawyers examines the laws of war as applied by military lawyers to aerial targeting operations carried out by the US military in Iraq and Afghanistan and the Israel military in Gaza. Drawing on interviews with military lawyers and others, this book explains why some lawyers became integrated in the chain of command, whereby military targets are identified and attacked, whether by manned aircraft, drones, and/or ground forces, and with what results. This book shows just how important law and military lawyers have become in the conduct of contemporary warfare and how it is understood. Jones argues that circulations of law and policy between the US and Israel have bolstered targeting practices considered legally questionable, contending that the involvement of war lawyers in targeting operations enables, legitimises, and sometimes even extends military violence.

Refractions of the National, the Popular and the Global in African Cities Simon Bekker, Sylvia Croese, 2021-02-26 Case studies of metropolitan cities in nine African countries from Egypt in the north to three in West and Central Africa two in East Africa and three in Southern Africa make up the empirical foundation of this publication The interrelated themes addressed in these chapters the national influence on urban development the popular dynamics that shape urban development and the global currents on urban development make up its framework All authors and editors are African as is the publisher The only exception is Gran Therborn whose recent book Cities of Power served as motivation for this volume Accordingly the issue common to all case studies is the often conflictual powers that are exercised by national global and popular forces in the development of these African cities Rather than locating the case studies in an exclusively African historical context the focus is on the trajectories of the postcolonial city with the important exception of Addis Ababa with a non colonial history that has granted it a special place in African consciousness These trajectories enable comparisons with those of postcolonial cities on other continents This in turn highlights the fact that Africa today the least urbanised continent on an increasingly urbanised globe is in the thick of processes of large scale urban transformation illustrated in diverse ways by the case studies that make up the foundation of this publication Short Description The New Urban Crisis Richard Florida, 2017-04-11 In recent years the young educated and affluent have surged back into cities reversing decades of suburban flight and urban decline And yet all is not well Richard Florida argues in The New Urban Crisis Florida one of the first scholars to anticipate this back to the city movement in his groundbreaking The Rise of the Creative Class demonstrates how the same forces that power the growth of the world's superstar cities also generate their vexing challenges: gentrification, unaffordability, segregation, and inequality. Meanwhile, many more cities still stagnate, and middle-class neighborhoods everywhere are disappearing. Our winner-take-all cities are just one manifestation of a profound crisis in today's urbanized knowledge economy. A bracingly original work of research and analysis, The New Urban Crisis offers a compelling diagnosis of our economic ills and a bold prescription for more inclusive cities capable of ensuring growth and prosperity for all.

Intercultural Knowledge Sharing in MNCs Fabrizio Maimone, 2017-11-11 This book provides a systematic view of current and future research perspectives on intercultural knowledge sharing and offers a model for the growth of organizational knowledge in the digital age. The author puts forward multidisciplinary and multi-paradigmatic approaches to offer an updated view on the best practices towards international management. With insights on the opportunities and limitations of the use of digital and social media to facilitate intercultural knowledge sharing in business, the book explores the evolution of research on the topic, taking into account the consequence of globalization as well as technological innovation and the evolution of organizational strategies and structures. Intercultural Knowledge Sharing in MNCs will be of use to scholars of management and organizational studies as well as managers of international businesses interested in knowledge sharing as it delivers an invaluable model which aims to conciliate diversity and inclusion, global and local knowledge, technological innovation, and humanism.

Open Gaza Michael Sorkin, Deen Sharp, 2020-12-29 Cutting-edge analysis on how to improve life inside the Gaza Strip through architecture and design, illustrated in full color. The Gaza Strip is one of the most beleaguered environments on earth. Crammed into a space of 139 square miles (360 square kilometers), 1.8 million people live under an Israeli siege, enforcing conditions that continue to plummet to ever more unimaginable depths of degradation and despair. Gaza, however, is more than an endless encyclopedia of depressing statistics. It is also a place of fortitude, resistance, and imagination, a context in which inhabitants go to remarkable lengths to create the ordinary conditions of the everyday and to reject their exceptional status. Inspired by Gaza's inhabitants, this book builds on the positive capabilities of Gazans. It brings together environmentalists, planners, activists, and scholars from Palestine and Israel, the US, the UK, India, and elsewhere to create hopeful interventions that imagine a better place for Gazans and Palestinians. Open Gaza engages the Gaza Strip within and beyond the logics of siege and warfare; it considers how life can be improved inside the limitations imposed by the Israeli blockade and outside the idiocy of violence and warfare.

 Series We must measure what we value not just value what is simple to measure This statement from the US White House encapsulates the global trend dubbed ESG an insistence on attending to the natural environment social values and responsible governance in business affairs A salient aspect of this trend is the explosion of human rights and environment related disputes that have come to the fore on the international legal landscape In this timely and crucially important volume distinguished jurists representatives of governments and NGOs and in house counsel identify and analyse the sources of ESG related litigation and arbitration providing an extensive treatment of the nature of ESG disputes and their resolution across both commercial and investment fora The contributions are based on papers presented at a conference organized by the Swiss Arbitration Association in February 2023 Among the issues and topics raised many of them relatively new to legal theory and practice are the following emergence of nature related assets and markets dealing in nature related products intensification of ESG related regulation which disputes could trigger which type of arbitrations ESG specific arbitration clauses as risk mitigation measures controversial role of the Energy Charter Treaty ESG compliant supply chains ESG scoring rights of nature recognizing ecosystems as subjects with rights and the criminal act of ecocide Of immediate interest is a discussion focused on concrete ways in which each and every arbitration practitioner can contribute to a more environmentally friendly and socially responsible arbitration practice In its recognition that ESG is profoundly linking environmental and social protection values with the monetary aspects in the life of both corporations and states the book identifies key drivers for future ESG related disputes and enables stakeholders to position themselves in an emerging field It will prove of inestimable value to all practitioners policymakers and other professionals dedicated to the protection of natural resources and of human life itself Interpreter: A Journal of Mormon Scripture, Volume 24 (2017) Daniel C.
