Strong to Save: Maritime Mission in Hong Kong from Whampoa Reach to the Mariners' Club Stephen Davies, 2017-07-19 Tracing its origins back to 1822 in Whampoa the Mariners Club in Hong Kong was established to meet a specific need for an Anglo Chinese society defined by that most dubious of activities seafaring Its creation was anything but straightforward and in this can be seen the mutable and often tortuous relations between the various religious bodies the local population the transient sailors the emerging captains of industry and the growing regulatory reach of the colonial government The club evolved through many embodiments and witnessed the growth of Hong Kong from a collection of mat sheds on the foreshore through colony to its current status Throughout its turbulent past it has been occasionally marginalized but has always served as an important base for the key actors in the main commercial activity in Hong Kong seafarers This is a history of one of the most enduring institutions of Hong Kong and the first of its kind Using the Club's own records as well as a wide range of sources both from within Hong Kong and from the seafaring world at large this is a comprehensive account of the life of the Missions the tenancy of the different chaplains managers and stewards the changes in seafaring practices and shipping and the transformation of Hong Kong itself

Fragmenting Globalization Ka Zeng, Xiaojun Li, 2021-03-15 Global supply chain integration is not only a rapidly growing feature of international trade it is responsible for fundamentally changing trade policy at international and domestic levels Given that final goods are produced with both domestic and foreign suppliers Ka Zeng and Xiaojun Li argue that global supply chain integration pits firms and industries that are more heavily dependent on foreign supply chains against those that are less dependent on intermediate goods for domestic production Hence businesses whose supply chain would be disrupted as a result of increased trade barriers should lobby for preferential trade liberalization to maintain access to those foreign markets Moreover businesses whose products are used in the production of goods in foreign countries should also support preferential trade liberalization to compete with suppliers from other parts of the world

Fragmenting Globalization uses multiple methods including time series cross sectional analysis of the pattern of Preferential Trade Alliance formation by existing World Trade Organization members a firm level survey and case studies of the pattern of corporate support for regional trade liberalization in both China and the United States Zeng and Li show that the growing fragmentation of global production trade and investment is altering trade policy away from the traditional divide between export oriented and import competing industries

Retail Location Planning in an Era of Multi-Channel Growth Mark Birkin, Graham Clarke, Martin Clarke, 2017-03-27 The way in which products and services are delivered to consumers through branches and retail outlets or more generally through a network of distribution channels remains fundamentally important for maintaining a competitive advantage for a very wide range of businesses This is true within domestic markets but especially so for increasingly global corporations as shareholder pressure for continued growth drives businesses into ever more widespread geographical markets Arguing that more complex markets demand more sophisticated spatial analysis this book discusses the application of location planning techniques to generate competitive advantage in a variety of business sectors in a changing retail environment The series of techniques are analysed from relatively straightforward branch scorecards to sophisticated applications of geographical information systems GIS spatial modelling and mathematical optimisation Also explored are the changing dynamics of the impact of more restrictive planning environments in many countries on how retailers find new locations for growth and respond to changing consumer needs and wants The book is essential reading for students and scholars alike working in geography economics business management planning finance and industry studies

Obstructive Marketing Maitland Hyslop, 2016-05-23 In Obstructive Marketing Maitland Hyslop deals with a very negative kind of activity which embraces activities legal or otherwise designed to prevent or restrict the distribution of a product or service temporarily or permanently against the wishes of the product manufacturer service provider or customer When the author defined this phenomenon as Obstructive Marketing and started to research it more than a decade ago it was seen as a valid concept that was perhaps ahead of its time The World has moved on and in the era of globalization a study of this negative aspect of marketing is now required Obstructive Marketing is now seen as the business equivalent of asymmetric warfare which is increasingly understood because the rise of the South and East at the expense of the North and West has brought some Obstructive Marketing stratagems into sharp focus Using the author's own research this book explains what Obstructive Marketing is and why it is not called Anti Marketing The author explains who practises Obstructive Marketing where when and how and why businesses are particularly vulnerable when entering new markets and engaging in change and innovation Intriguing concepts such as cultural risk are illuminated along with formal links between Obstructive Marketing asymmetric warfare and terrorism This all leads to identification of the need for a strong Government Business partnership to counter the effects of this darkest kind of marketing
