New Construction Reference Guide Version 2.2 U.S. Green Building Council, 2007

Guide to Green Building Rating Systems Linda Reeder, 2010-03-29. The one-stop guide for choosing a green building rating system. Today, sustainability is a growing concern for architects, designers, builders, and owners of commercial and residential buildings. Meeting the requirements of a rating system provides a metric to evaluate and set priorities. But the variety and complexity of methods available to assess the eco-friendliness of a building can seem overwhelming. Guide to Green Building Rating Systems informs readers about the rating system selection process. Comparing essential issues such as cost, ease of use, and building performance, this book offers solid guidance that will help readers find the rating system that best fits their needs. This easy-to-follow reference includes an overview of the major national rating systems, including LEED Green Globes, the National Green Building Standard, and ENERGY STAR. An in-depth look at each rating system, including its evolution, objectives, point structure, levels of certification, benefits, and shortcomings. How the ratings systems work for different types of buildings: commercial, multi-family residential, and single-family residential construction. Illustrated case studies from different climate regions with project descriptions, cost data, and lessons learned by design teams, constructors, and owners. An overview of local, regional, and international rating systems. Guide to Green Building Rating Systems demystifies complex material, making this book an essential reference for building professionals engaged in or wishing to pursue sustainable building practices.
