

How to Write an Autobiography

Tips to write an autobiography:

Like the examples of autobiographies discussed above, any autobiography needs to deal with a few aspects:

Introduction: One needs to give an introduction about themselves in the autobiography. This introduction needs to contain basic aspects like name, where you live, when and where were you born, what conditions were you born in, etc.

You in totality: This part of the autobiography deals with a general point of view, that you hold about yourself. It also needs to let the reader be able to visualize you in the current day. You need to include your current situations, habits, lifestyle etc.

Life, in general: This part of the autobiography deals with your view about life, on a general note. You need to include your understanding of life and its implications. This part is your route to propound your belief. So, make it descriptive.

View and aims: Here, you talk about where do you see yourself in the future or what you expect to happen in the future. This part, mostly, should be in compatibility with the previous aspect, else your reader could get confused and lose interest in the book.

Conclusion: Like all stories, an autobiography also needs to have an apt conclusion. You can leave a lasting impression on the reader with the help of your conclusion. Remember, you do not need to have a "moral of the story". You can simply end it with hope, if you like.

Always remember, it is your autobiography, not an example of an autobiography, you can write it the way you like. So, experiment and enjoy. As they say, "if you find it interesting while writing it, the reader will find it interesting while reading it". This is where I sign off. Hope to find your autobiography on the stands soon!!

The Learning of Liberty Lorraine Smith Pangle, Thomas L. Pangle, 1993-06-04 American schools are in a state of crisis At the root of our current perplexity beneath the difficulties with funding social problems and low test scores festers a serious uncertainty as to what the focus and goals of education should be We are increasingly haunted by the suspicion that our educational theories and institutions have lost sight of the need to perpetuate a core of moral and civic knowledge that is essential for any citizen s education and indeed for any individual s happiness Mining the Founders rich reflections on education the Pangles suggest can help us recover a clearer sense of perspective and purpose With a commanding knowledge of the history of political philosophy the authors illustrate how the Founders both drew upon and transformed the ideas of earlier philosophers of education such as Plato Xenophon Milton Bacon and Locke They trace the emergence of a new American ideal of public education that puts civic instruction at its core to sustain a high quality of leadership and public discourse while producing resourceful self reliant members of a uniquely fluid society The Pangles also explore the wisdom and the weaknesses inherent in Jefferson s attempt to create a comprehensive system of schooling that would educate parents and children and offer unprecedented freedom of choice to university students An original closing section examines the Founders ideas for bringing all aspects of society to bear on education It also shows how Washington Jefferson and Franklin presented their own lives as models for the education of others and analyzes the subtle provocative moral philosophy implicit in the self depiction of each The Learning of Liberty is historical and scholarly yet relentlessly practical seeking from the Founders useful insights into the human soul and the character of good education Even if the Founders do not provide us with ready made solutions to many of our problems the Pangles suggest a study of their writings can give us a more realistic perspective by teaching that our bewilderment is in some measure an outgrowth of unresolved tensions embedded in the Founders own conceptions of republicanism religion education and human nature

Rewriting Germany from the Margins Petra Fachinger, 2001-11-10 The margins in Petra

Fachinger s work are occupied largely by second generation migrant writers from Spain Italy and Turkey German Jewish writers of diverse ethnic origins and writers born in the GDR She demonstrates that during the 1980s and 1990s writers from various cultural backgrounds engaged in oppositional discourse to construct their own version of Germany and write back to the German canon While most studies of texts by minority writers in Germany favour content over form Fachinger focuses on identifying counter discursive strategies and applies postcolonial theory concerned with textual resistance to the German situation In doing so this study effectively relates marginal writing in Germany to similar forms of writing in other national and cultural contexts The oppositional impulse whether manifested in counter canonical discourse postcolonial picaresque hybridity rewriting of genre or grotesque realism is prompted by the exclusionary politics of the dominant culture The discursive strategies used by the authors discussed to rewrite Germany expose the assumptions that underlie German public discourse and destabilize notions of Germanness Jewishness and Turkishness Fachinger s reading of texts by marginal writers in Germany all of whom endeavour to resist marginalization while simultaneously experiencing or even celebrating the margin as a site of empowerment was motivated by the absence of comparative studies of such writing Rewriting Germany from the Margins demonstrates the necessity and usefulness of comparative approaches to minority discourses across national and cultural borders New York Teachers' Monographs ,1911
