a Federal UK John Furlong, Ingrid Lunt, 2019-10-23 Britain s two recent referenda on Brexit 2016 and on Scottish independence 2014 have raised in the public mind fundamental questions about the future of the UK It seems that for the first time the public the media and the political elite have woken up to the fact that in different parts of the UK there are different histories different aspirations and different imagined futures in relation to a whole range of vitally important political issues But what the public debate often fails to recognise is that in many areas of public life perhaps especially education the UK is already a federal state and in key respects has been so for many years The aim of this volume is therefore to take stock to try and capture what the current state of educational policy and practice is across the whole of the UK This has been achieved by commissioning two different papers from each of the four countries Wales Scotland Northern Ireland and England The first is an overview exploring the distinctive history principles and current policies of each country The second paper has been specifically chosen as a case study of a key policy that highlights the distinctiveness of each country the Foundation Phase for Wales assessment policy in Scotland shared education initiatives in Northern Ireland and higher education policy in England Taken together these eight papers give an important insight into the complexities of educational policy and practice across the whole of the UK today This volume was originally published as a special issue of Oxford Review of Education

EdPsych Modules Cheryl Cisero Durwin, Marla Reese-Weber, 2019-12-04 EdPsych Modules uses an innovative modular approach and case studies based on real life classroom situations to address the challenge of effectively connecting theory and research to practice Succinct stand alone modules are organized into themed units and offer instructors the flexibility to tailor the book's contents to the needs of their course The units begin with a set of case studies written for early childhood elementary middle and secondary classrooms providing students with direct insight into the dynamics influencing the future students they plan to teach All 25 modules highlight diversity emphasizing how psychological factors adapt and change based on external influences such as sex gender race language disability status and socioeconomic background The Fourth Edition includes over three hundred new references across all 25 modules and expanded coverage of diversity in new diversity related research This title is accompanied by a complete teaching and learning package
