Great Britain: Parliament: House of Lords: Select Committee on Economic Affairs,2014-03-11 The Government proposes introducing legislative tests to determine if an Limited Liability Partnership member is an employee or truly a partner Failing these tests would make the member liable for income tax and National Insurance Contributions NIC as an employee and the LLP would pay employer NICs Nearly all the evidence received by the Committee was that the legislative tests failed to achieve the policy objective Many suggested that existing case law could be used instead A delay in implementation until April 2015 would allow for further consultation to target the legislation better and for businesses to adapt to the changes The Committee also raised concerns that the proposed changes to tax arrangements for LLPs would apply only to UK registered LLPs and not those conducting business here but formed outside the UK. The Committee is content in principle with proposed measures to counter shifting of profit to corporate members of partnerships to minimise tax liability and highlights the extent of this practice in the Alternative Investment Fund Management AIFM Sector. But the Committee wants to see the legislation drafted more precisely. And it is concerned that the Government's revised estimates of the tax yield from these measures and particularly the additional 1.92bn in 2015-2019 from the AIFM sector show that the Government's original estimates of tax yield were very wide of the mark.

Portraits of Labor Market Exclusion Ramya Sundaram, Ulrich Hoerning, Natasha de Andrade Falcão, Natalia Millán, Carla Tokman, Michele Zini, 2015-07-16. Portraits of Labor Market Exclusion presents profiles or portraits of individuals who have limited labor market attachment. It is widely accepted that those with limited attachment to the labor market are a highly heterogeneous group including for instance recent job losers, long term unemployed, school leavers with no labor market experience, those close to retirement age or people with caring responsibilities and that understanding their circumstances and potential barriers is an essential prerequisite for designing and implementing a tailored and effective mix of policy support and incentives. The report takes a comprehensive view focusing on both the labor market attachment of a country's out of work population and the social assistance package and poverty profile of the same segment of the population. In essence the report looks at individuals through the lenses of both poverty/welfare status and labor market indicators and in doing so the portraits help move the dialogue from a purely labor market centric view to a broader dialogue that includes social policy as a whole. This is an important shift for instance social protection programs such as family benefits and maternity benefits and broader social policy issues such as retirement ages often have a great impact on who remains inactive. Specifically the report presents portraits of the out of work population of six countries: Bulgaria, Estonia, Greece, Hungary, Lithuania and Romania in terms of distance from the labor market, human capital and labor supply conditions as well as demographic conditions. The analysis relies on the European Union Statistics of Income and Living Conditions (EU SILC) surveys for the years 2007 to 2011. Latent class analysis methodology allows multidimensional profiling of the out of work population and identifies classes or groups of out of work individuals that are as homogeneous as possible within each class according to a set of observable characteristics and as distant as possible between classes. Consequently this analysis provides a much richer glimpse of the very different barriers to labor market integration that these various groups experience considerably augmenting the limited amount of information contained in traditional descriptive statistics.
