organisations sincerely set out to help orphans in Africa and other developing countries out of their misery and hopelessness by providing them with a family environment in which they can experience love and hope To accomplish this a sponsorship organisation often works with a like minded partner organisation that executes its vision and objectives Unfortunately this is usually plagued by many complex problems that if not resolved can become insurmountable In this book the author draws on his many years of experience in working for orphans in Africa to identify difficulties that seem to be inherent in such an endeavour He has determined that these problems stem from three specific areas the orphans themselves the partner organisation and the sponsor organisation Each of these has its own unique challenges and when these unique challenges interact they become so complicated that if their root causes are not isolated and resolved the ministry may eventually collapse The telltale signs of such an eventuality are perceptible but only to the discerning mind Musa Okolo identifies and offers practical solutions to these challenges which will enable orphan care ministries to understand and deal with the complex issues involved and hence achieve their objectives and fulfil their vision Mailing List (Infantry School (U.S.))

Dirk, Charles Sides, 2020-04-29 Within the framework of New Literacy Studies Dirk Remley presents a historical study of how technical communication practices at a World War II arsenal sponsored literacy within the community in which it operated from 1940 to 1960 and contemporary implications of similar forms of sponsorship The Training within Industry TWI methods developed by the U S government and industry at that time included multimodal literate practices particularly combinations of visual oral experiential and print linguistic text Analyses reveal a hierarchy in which print linguistic literacies were generally esteemed at the workplace and in the community This literacy hierarchy contributed to a catastrophic accident that killed 11 people prompting changes in the approach to designing certain training documents This book links technical communication especially the multimodal forms of representation commonly found in technical communication and instructional materials to the concept of literacy sponsorship The TWI methods used in training and system improvement during World War II are currently applied in business and industry as part of the lean operating and continuous improvement philosophies These methods have also become part of the experiential learning philosophy favored in academia Remley includes examples of current applications of multimodal forms of technical communication similar to those used at the arsenal as well as new media related applications related to training and instruction He also discusses their implications for literacy sponsorship This book provides useful information for technical communication and literacy scholars and educators as well as practical case studies for business leaders consultants and practitioners Intended Audience Scholars in technical communication and literacy writing studies scholars in business especially management and organizational analysis and business communication consultants scholars in history and sociology
