Financial Innovation and Engineering in Islamic Finance Samir Alamad,2017-04-13 This book provides two important contributions to existing theories in the financial innovation literature First it extends the existing literature of innovation orientation to a completely new field and construct that is based on a religious imperative as a framework within which financial innovation is constrained It explains how an innovation orientation in IFIs can be directed within religious rules which indicates that innovation orientation in IFIs is a learning philosophy Second the book introduces and examines the plasticity of Shariah as a shared boundary object and its dynamic role in managing tension and conflicting values in the financial innovation process Furthermore building on the empirical results the study illustrates the insights that each theoretical lens affords into practices of collaboration and develops a novel analytical framework for understanding religious orientation towards financial innovation This practical contribution of the developed framework could form the basis for a standardised framework for the Islamic finance industry The book concludes by noting the policy and managerial implications of its findings and provides directions for further research

Household Finance Richard Deaves,2024 Household Finance An Introduction to Individual Financial Behavior is about how individuals make financial decisions and how these financial decisions contribute to and detract from their well being What sort of decisions am I talking about We all must manage our money shifting our resources across time Sometimes we need to consume more than is currently available to us For example people commonly borrow to purchase residential real estate paying down their mortgage loans over time At other times we have excess funds that we can save and invest The main reason to accumulate wealth is to amass a fund that we can draw down when older and less able and willing to earn labor income It is crucial then that our savings be sufficient to ensure a comfortable retirement It is not enough to save our savings must be invested appropriately so as to properly counterbalance risk and return One way is to buy low cost mutual funds or exchange traded funds where the job of diversification is done for us Some of us however purchase not only investment funds but also individual securities that we ourselves select If so it is vital that we avoid preventable errors And along the way since the world is unpredictable it is appropriate to protect ourselves by insuring against the sort of catastrophic loss that can derail our best laid financial plans
