APPROACHES TO PHONICS INSTRUCTION

Phonics instruction can be organized with various approaches to deliver instruction, including whole-classroom, self-instruction, computer-assisted, and one-on-one, including computer-assisted individual approaches.

System phonics (Phonics first) Phonics instruction is a more comprehensive approach, and that may or may not include exposure to other language skills.

Words-phonics (Words first) Words are taught before sound relationships. Phonics instruction comes after the words are learned.

Blending words phonics (Phonics last) A combination of word-phonics and phonics instruction. Words are taught first, then phonics instruction.

Phonics through spelling (Phonics last) An approach where words are introduced with a focus on the spelling of the words.

Reduced phonics (Phonics last) An approach where words are introduced, and then the spelling of the words is taught. Phonics instruction is provided after the words are learned.

Words-phonics-orthography (Phonics last) An approach where words are introduced, and then the spelling of the words is taught. Phonics instruction is provided after the words are learned.
