Christopher,2007-06-26 From a writer of remarkable gifts Borges with emotional weight comes a tale that is at once a fantastical historical mystery a haunting love story and a glimpse into the uncanny the quest for a long lost book detailing the animals left off Noah s Ark Xeno Atlas grows up in the Bronx his Sicilian grandmother s strange stories of animal spirits his only escape from the legacy of his mother s early death and his stern father s long absences as a common seaman Shunted off to an isolated boarding school with his father s activities abroad and the source of his newfound wealth grown increasingly mysterious Xeno turns his early fascination with animals into a personal obsession his search for the Caravan Bestiary This medieval text lost for eight hundred years supposedly details the animals not granted passage on the Ark griffins hippogriffs manticores and basilisks the vanished remnants of a lost world sometimes glimpsed in the shadowy recesses of our own Xeno s quest takes him from the tenements of New York to the jungles of Vietnam to the ancient libraries of Europe but it is only by riddling out his own family secrets that he can hope to find what he is looking for A story of panoramic scope and intellectual suspense The Bestiary is ultimately a tale of heartbreak and redemption      What Do I

On Jupiter Place Nicholas Christopher,2017-03-14 Best known as a novelist Nicholas Christopher began publishing poems in The New Yorker in his twenties and has published eight collections praised over the years by poets and critics as being among America s most important poets Reviewing his selected poems Crossing the Equator published eight years ago The Washington Post said To read his richly honed and sensuous work which has so much tensile strength is to visit other worlds and then to return to our own disturbed by time but also refreshed and reawakened On Jupiter Place is his first book since that collection and it contains material that is perhaps his most personal autobiographical and intimate work yet Beautifully made and carefully constructed one might be reminded of Keats thinking that his poems were little machines of feeling And everywhere in this book are moments of disorientation where the wonder of the poem transcends understanding and leads its readers back into themselves slightly startled and richer for the effort As Merwin has written his poems are vibrant with light and the surprise of recognition He shows us again and again the luminous nature of the familiar The Washington Post reviewing his Crossing the Equator New Selected Poems reported that Nicholas Christopher is a fabulist His fiction often puts me in mind of Jorge Luis Borges and Italo Calvino two time travelers who are his great precursors His poetry tends to build on the work of Wallace Stevens Elizabeth Bishop and James Merrill Like them he has a taste for the exotic the faraway the displaced the imaginary
