Grade 9 N S 2014 Final Exam Scope:

HC 1189 - Budget 2014 Great Britain: Parliament: House of Commons: Treasury Committee, Andrew Tyrie, 2014-05-09
In this report the Treasury Committee makes recommendations on pensions savings HMRC debt recovery powers and housing The greater flexibility and choice provided by the proposed pension reforms is welcomed The guidance guarantee is an important part of making sure that consumers benefit from increased choice It should be measured against a set of recommended principles to ensure its effectiveness The pensions reforms are also likely to lead to financial innovation Following the financial crisis and the mis selling scandals the reputation of the industry is under scrutiny With regard to savings double taxation has long been a deterrent to some forms of saving With the enhanced flexibility for those saving there may now be scope in the long term for bringing the tax treatment of savings and pensions together to create a single savings vehicle The proposal to grant the power to HMRC to take money directly from people's bank accounts is extremely concerning Exceptional powers such as this require prior independent oversight With regard to housing the Help to Buy scheme at least in the short to medium term could raise house prices There is also the risk that withdrawal of Help to Buy may have a distorting effect on the housing market The need to address these difficulties places a particular responsibility on the FPC as well as the Government for detecting and addressing the financial stability risks arising from the housing market There are also reservations about any extension of retrospection in the tax system Retrospection should be considered only in wholly exceptional circumstances year of life is similar and different in two contrasting contexts in each of five countries Argentina Belgium Israel Italy and the United States providing a global understanding of parenting across cultures Edited and written by Marc H Bornstein and his country collaborators the chapters presented compare microanalytic approaches to three topical issues in each of two cultural groups in each country The three issues concern first how often and how long mothers in each of the groups in each of the countries engage in basic parenting practices and how often and how long infants in the same groups engage in different behaviors Second whether the maternal parenting practices are organized in any way and whether those infant behaviors are organized in any way And third whether those maternal parenting practices and those infant behaviors are interrelated Thus this book offers insights into the basics of parenting and infancy from both intra cultural and cross cultural perspectives Each country chapter is co authored by a contributor native to the country examined ensuring an authentic cultural perspectives on parenting and infancy Together the chapters provide a broader sample that is more generalizable to a wider range of the world s population than is typical in most parenting and infancy research Parenting Infancy Culture is essential reading for researchers and students of parenting psychology human development family studies sociology and cultural anthropology as well as professionals working with families

Impact of Diet on Learning, Memory and Cognition Amy Claire Reichelt, Margaret J. Morris, R. Fred Westbrook, 2017-08-22 Changes in food composition and availability have contributed to the dramatic increase in obesity over the past 30 40 years in developed and increasingly in developing countries The modern diet now contains many foods that are rich in saturated fat and refined sugar People who eat excessive amounts of this diet are not only likely to become overweight even obese develop metabolic and cardiovascular diseases some forms of cancer but also undergo a more rapid rate of normal age related cognitive decline and more rapid progression of neurological diseases such as dementia A central problem is why people persist in consuming this diet in spite of its adverse health effects and when alternative food choices are available As high fat high sugar foods are inherently rewarding eating for pleasure like taking psychoactive drugs can modulate reward neurocircuitry causing changes in responsiveness to reward predicting stimuli and incentive motivation Indeed the excessive ingestion in modern societies and the resulting obesity epidemic may be viewed as a form of food addiction Thus a diet high in palatable foods is proposed to impact upon reward systems in the brain modulating appetitive learning and altering reward thresholds Impairments in other forms of cognition have been associated with obesity and these have a rapid onset The hippocampus appears to be particularly vulnerable to the detrimental effects of high fat and high sugar diets Recent research has shown that as little as one week of exposure to a high fat high sugar diet leads to impairments in place but not object recognition memory in the rat Excess sugar alone had similar effects and the detrimental effects of diet consumption was linked to increased inflammatory markers in the hippocampus a critical region involved in memory Furthermore obesity related inflammatory changes have also been described in the human brain that may lead to memory impairments These memory deficits may contribute to pathological eating behaviour through changes in the amount consumed and timing of eating The aim of this eBook is to present up to date information about the impact of diet and diet induced obesity on reward driven learning memory and cognition encompassing both animal and human literature and also potential therapeutic targets to attenuate such deficits
