Competition Law in China and the EU Xingyu Yan, 2024-12-16 This book presents a comprehensive review of the Chinese and European responses to the abuse of market dominance with a focus on the impact of antitrust institutional dynamics on enforcement decisions It uses the methods of functional comparison and case analysis to investigate how theories of harm relating to specific types of abuse differ within and across competition law regimes due to institutional dynamics The Chinese and EU competition law regimes serve as excellent examples for this investigation because they have similar substantive laws on paper but vastly different institutional settings The book examines first individually and then comparatively how the distinct institutional dynamics in the Chinese and EU regimes shape the development of theories of harm This volume will appeal to competition law scholars students and practitioners seeking a more nuanced understanding of how competition law works in the EU and China It will also interest scholars trying to approach the Chinese legal system from an engaging rather than alienating standpoint FCC Record United States. Cases in European Competition Policy Bruce Lyons, 2009-08-27 Competition between firms is usually the most effective way of delivering economic efficiency and what consumers want However there is a balance to be struck Firms must not be over regulated and so hampered in their development of innovative products and new strategies to compete for customers Nor must they be completely free to satisfy a natural preference for monopoly which would give them higher profits and a quieter life The economic role of competition policy control of anticompetitive agreements mergers and abusive practices is to maintain this balance and an effective policy requires a nuanced understanding of the economics of industrial organization Cases in European Competition Policy demonstrates how economics is used and sometimes abused in competition cases in practical competition policy across Europe Each chapter summarizes a real case investigated by the European Commission or a national authority and provides a critique of key aspects of the economic analysis

Markets and Power Eric A. Schutz, 2016-07-01 In what ways do the actions and economic behavior of today's multinational corporations resemble the functioning and processes of the old command economics of the Soviet Union By ignoring questions about power relations in markets mainstream neoclassically oriented economists conclude that there are no significant power structures operating in market systems to control allocation and distribution This book argues to the contrary that there are fundamental and systemic power structures monopoly access to information or finance employer power etc at work in market economies which affects their ability to achieve real competition in much the same way as state controlled command economies hinder business activities Thus for example the biggest firms at the hubs of financial networks wield a kind of shaping power upon large numbers of relatively autonomous firms not only upon those that belong to the networks but also on the many firms outside them that are also affected
