LIFE LOGs: Echoes of Survival Zubair Irshad,2025-09-17 These are ten stories Stories of girls and women who have faced the harshest situations in life and have come out victorious Except for Sakeena where the author felt helpless at the plight of a young girl whose wings were clipped before she could fly every other story has left the author and the reader speechless with admiration at the resilience and determination an oft repeated phrase throughout the stories of the girl or woman or group of women whom he has written about And this admiration is so relatable He has documented the lives of girls like Sandhya and Nazo who went through personal hardships and deprivations collected the pieces of their lives and found purpose in life The stories of Shanti and Kishore and Firuza and Akbar are the tales of women who stood with their husbands stoutly through their loss and grief and took over their responsibilities when the time came The women of Bukhara and those of Turtuk are happy groups of women who decided to move out of their comfort zones challenge the societal norms and spread positivity in every sense of the word Zainab is a happy and grateful child who has dreams to pay back the kindness of the people around her Her mother like Shanti and Firuza had stepped in to help her family when the time came Then there is Devi who will not let age and betrayal by her children make her lose hope The heart wrenching tale of Meedo Phuppi and her dignified acceptance defies words The author has sensitively portrayed these lives and their challenges The descriptions of the scenic beauty not only lend a softness and sensitivity to the narrative but they also help to contextualize the tales told. He is a feminist who can see dignity in defiance and faith in striving. These are tales of women who have stood tall despite their circumstances of survivors who lived to tell their inspiring stories. Happy reading. The Moonshine Logs Francis Stokes, 1994. The Moonshine Logs is a wonderfully moving and insightful account covering the author's modest beginnings in ocean racing to his later triumphs in his beloved Moonshine.

Objects and Materials Penny Harvey, Eleanor Conlin Casella, Gillian Evans, Hannah Knox, Christine McLean, Elizabeth B. Silva, Nicholas Thoburn, Kath Woodward, 2014-07-16. There is broad acceptance across the Humanities and Social Sciences that our deliberations on the social need to take place through attention to practice to object-mediated relations to non-human agency and to the affective dimensions of human sociality. This Companion focuses on the objects and materials found at centre stage and asks what matters about objects. Objects and Materials explores the field providing succinct summary accounts of contemporary scholarship along with a wealth of new research investigating the capacity of objects to shape, unsettle and exceed expectations. Original chapters from over forty international interdisciplinary contributors address an array of objects and materials to ask what the terms of collaborations with objects and materials are and to consider how these collaborations become integral to our understandings of the complex relational dynamics that fashion social worlds. Objects and Materials will be of interest to students and scholars across the social sciences and humanities including in sociology, social theory, science and technology studies, history, anthropology, archaeology, gender studies, women's studies, geography, cultural studies, politics and international relations and philosophy.

Sawing Fallen Logs For Ladybird Houses Dave Lewis, 2011-04-03. Praise for Sawing Fallen Logs. From the first eponymously titled poem we realise that Dave Lewis's work possesses an energy and freshness that lifts his imagery and empathy way above the work of many less ambitious poets. The element of surprise in each poem, however short, is even more startling, coming as it does from such uncluttered writing. Last lines are an example, while phrases such as 'trees as tall as ships' a severe lack of hares, the brittle grass of misunderstanding will surely enhance the reader's own perceptions of the world around them. This collection's structure too works well under its five separate headings and the diverse forms used in several poems adds visual variety. A wonderful read. Buy it. Sally Spedding. Dave Lewis is a vital voice of the Valleys in touch with both the streets and the natural world. His free-flowing verse makes him a Welsh son of the Beats. Mike Jenkins.
