Order and Conflict in Public Space Mattias De Backer, Lucas Melgaço, Georgiana Varna, Francesca Menichelli, 2016-05-20 Which public and whose space The understanding of public space as an arena where individuals can claim full use and access hides a reality of constant negotiation conflict and surveillance This collection uses case studies concerning the management use and transgression of public space to invite reflection on the way in which everyday social interaction is framed and shaped by the physical environment and vice versa International experts from fields including geography criminology sociology and urban studies come together to debate the concepts of order and conflict in public space This book is divided into two parts spaces of control and spaces of transgression Section I focuses on formal and informal surveillance and the politics of control using case studies to compare strategies in spaces including Olympic cities luxury skyscrapers residential neighbourhoods and shopping malls Section II focuses on transgressive or deviant behaviour in public spaces with case studies examining behaviour in nightlife districts governance of homelessness boy racer culture and abortion protests The epilogue concludes the book with an exploration of possible future avenues for research on public space and a critical appraisal of the concept of public space itself This interdisciplinary collection will be of interest to students researchers and professionals in the areas of criminology sociology surveillance studies human and social geography and urban studies and planning Managing and Adapting to Global Change in Tourism Places Alan A. Lew, 2017-10-02 Today more than ever communities need to develop resilience strategies to adapt to the varied and often unpredictable forces of global change The focus of this collection of articles from Tourism Geographies is on global change in tourism places Global change incorporates social and economic globalization which is arguably the most important process to have shaped the development of modern tourism since the nineteenth century and climate change which is likely to be the most significant factor influencing human behavior and livelihood in the coming decades The organization of these articles reflects a traditional geography approach which starts with an emphasis the physical geography foundations of the human condition especially through the issue of climate change This is then broadened by a series of insightful comparative studies of how tourism communities react adapt and relate to their changing natural and social conditions This collection of papers addresses major issues and adaptive paths for tourism destinations as they face the challenges of our contemporary world This book was published as a special issue of Tourism Geographies Food Tourism and Regional Development C. Michael Hall, Stefan Gössling, 2016-05-26 Food tourism is a topic of increasing importance for many destinations Seen as a means to potentially attract tourists and differentiate destinations and attractions by means of the association with particular products and cuisines food is also regarded as an opportunity to generate added value from tourism through local agricultural systems and supply chains and the local food system From a regional development perspective this book goes beyond culinary tourism to also look at some of the ways in which the interrelationships between food and tourism contribute to the economic environmental and social wellbeing of destinations communities and producers It examines the way in which tourism and food can mutually add value for each other from the fork to the plate and beyond Looking at products e g cheese craft beer noodles wine attractions restaurants and events and diverse regional examples e g Champagne Hong Kong Jamaica Margaret River southern Sweden and Tuscany the title highlights how clustering networking and the cultural economy of food and tourism and foodscapes adds value for regions Despite the attention given to food wine and culinary tourism no book has previously directly focused on the contribution of food and tourism in regional development This international collection has contributors and examples from almost every continent and provides a comprehensive account of the various intersections between food tourism and regional development This timely and significant volume will inform future food and tourism development as well as regional development more widely and will be valuable reading for a range of disciplines including tourism development studies food and culinary studies regional studies geography and environmental studies Africa and the Millennium Development Goals Charles Mutasa, Mark Paterson, 2015-10-29 This unique work by the Centre for Conflict Resolution CCR Cape Town South Africa tracks the progress Africa has made in
