Lessons for the Life of Faith Patrick Mead,2009-04-09 Out of a sinful and secular world the Lord called Abraham to live a life of faith This entailed Abraham to leave everything he knew and travel to a land he had never seen Abraham boldly began his life of faith yet he still had moments of hesitation and delay throughout his life It wasn't until Abraham yielded himself fully to the will of God in his life of faith that he received the son of prophecy Isaac and safely brought him through the long journey to the Promise Land Although Abraham is considered the hero of faith he is in no way without his flaws In fact we can learn as much from his flaws as from his virtues In studying Abraham's life we'll notice his struggle to trust God especially when times get tough Every true believer faces conflicts and trials that test our ability to trust God therefore Abraham's life gives us much to glean from concerning the Christian pilgrimage

A Cultural-Historical Study of Children Learning Science Marilyn Fleer,Niklas Pramling,2014-10-01 This book moves beyond the traditional constructivist and social constructivist view of learning and development in science It draws upon cultural historical theory in order to theorise early childhood science education in relation to our currently globalised education contexts The book argues that concept development in science for young children can be better theorised by using Vygotsky's concept of Imagination and creativity Vygotsky's theory of play and his work on higher mental functions particularly the concept of inter and intrapsychological functioning Key concepts are extracted from the theoretical section of the book and used as categories for analysis in presenting evidence and new ideas in the second section of the book In this second part of the book the authors examine how science knowledge has been constructed within particular countries around the globe where empirical research in early childhood science education has occurred The third part of the book examines the nature of the encounter between the teacher and the child during science learning and teaching In the final part of the book the authors look closely at the range of models and approaches to the teaching of early childhood science that have been made available to early childhood teachers to guide their planning and teaching They conclude the book with a theoretical discussion of the cultural historical foundation for early childhood science education followed by a model of teaching scientific concepts to young children in play based settings including homes and community contexts
