Shelef,2020-07-15 Why are some territorial partitions accepted as the appropriate borders of a nation s homeland whereas in other places conflict continues despite or even because of division of territory In Homelands Nadav G Shelef develops a theory of what homelands are that acknowledges both their importance in domestic and international politics and their change over time These changes he argues driven by domestic political competition and help explain the variation in whether partitions resolve conflict Homelands also provides systematic comparable data about the homeland status of lost territory over time that allow it to bridge the persistent gap between constructivist theories of nationalism and positivist empirical analyses of international relations Place Management and Crime John E. Eck,Shannon J. Linning,Tamara D.

Herold,2023-03-22 This brief describes the theory and evidence of a form of social control known as place management Created by property owners place management is an alternative to the two other domains of social control formally created by the state and informally created by residents It helps explain the high concentration of crime and disorder at a relatively small proportion of addresses and facilities This volume examines the specifics of place management and extends it in three ways to show how high crime places may radiate crime into their surroundings to reveal networks of places that create crime hotspot spanning blocks to demonstrate how networks of place managers influence crime throughout neighborhoods Finally it shows that the policy implications of place management extend far beyond the police and should include regulatory policies

Puar,2017-10-11 In The Right to Maim Jasbir K Puar brings her

pathbreaking work on the liberal state sexuality and biopolitics to bear on our understanding of disability Drawing on a stunning array of theoretical and methodological frameworks Puar uses the concept of debility bodily injury and social exclusion brought on by economic and political factors to disrupt the category of disability She shows how debility disability and capacity together constitute an assemblage that states use to control populations Puar s analysis culminates in an interrogation of Israel s policies toward Palestine in which she outlines how Israel brings Palestinians into biopolitical being by designating them available for injury Supplementing its right to kill with what Puar calls the right to maim the Israeli state relies on liberal frameworks of disability to obscure and enable the mass debilitation of Palestinian bodies Tracing disability s interaction with debility and capacity Puar offers a brilliant rethinking of Foucauldian biopolitics while showing how disability functions at the intersection of imperialism and racialized capital Urbanization with Chinese
