Body membranes, which cover body surfaces, line its cavities, and form protective sheets around organs, fall into two major categories. These are epithelial membranes (skin epidermis, mucosae, and serosae) and the connective tissue synovial membranes.

Topics for review in this chapter include a comparison of structure and function of various membranes, anatomical characteristics of the skin (composed of the connective tissue dermis and the epidermis) and its derivatives, and the manner in which the skin responds to both internal and external stimuli to protect the body.

CLASSIFICATION OF BODY MEMBRANES

1. Complete the following table relating to body membranes. Enter your responses in the areas left blank.

Membrane	Tissue type (epithelial/connective)	Common locations	Functions
Mucous	Epithelial	nose, mouth, lungs, stomach, eyelids, intestines, ureters, urethra, urinary bladder	protects the body from harmful external agents
Serous	Epithelial	pleural, pericardial, peritoneal cavities	secrete a lubricating fluid to reduce friction from muscle movements
Cutaneous	Epithelial	skin	provides a protective barrier against mechanical, thermal, and physical injury and hazardous substances
Synovial	Connective	joints	secretes fluid that lubricates and nourishes cartilage that covers bones
