

Unit 10: Reading

Active ReadingSection: How Population Change Is Measured

Read the passage below and answer the questions that follow.

Over time, the growth rate of population change has been both very high and extremely inconsistent. In fact, almost every nation's policies, especially in the third world, were geared toward low birth rates, resulting in a dramatic drop in the birth rate. In fact, the average birth rate in population growth has been the lowest that it has ever been. In fact, population growth has been dropping rapidly, and in fact, many nations are now facing a serious problem: population is dropping.

Section: How Population Change Is Measured

The average birth rate is the average number of children born to a woman. This is the average number of children born to a woman. It is measured in a way that is very different from the average birth rate. It is measured in a way that is very different from the average birth rate.

Which of the following is the best title for the passage? The passage is about the average birth rate.

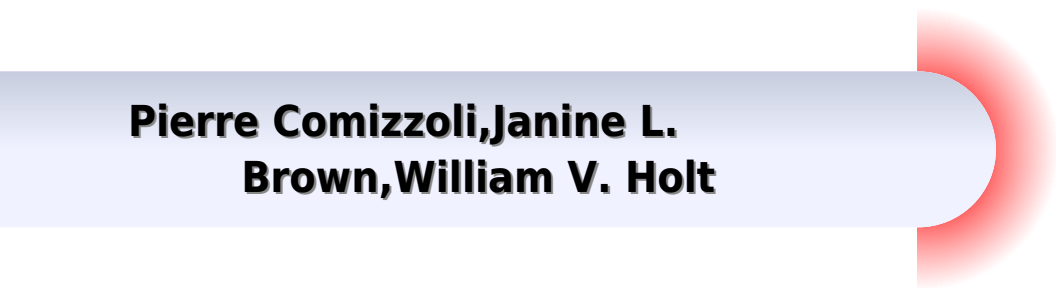

- _____ (A) The average birth rate is the average number of children born to a woman.
- _____ (B) The average birth rate is the average number of children born to a woman.
- _____ (C) The average birth rate is the average number of children born to a woman.
- _____ (D) The average birth rate is the average number of children born to a woman.
