Iowa State Auditor Rob Sand, Author of The Winning Ticket: Uncovering America's Biggest Lottery Scam      The New Entrepreneurs Jon Kraszewski, 2011-02-01

According to the sociologist C. Wright Mills in his 1951 book White Collar: The American Middle Classes, the new entrepreneur was a lone wolf able to succeed in post World War II corporate America by elusively meandering through various institutions. During this time, anthology writers such as Rod Serling, Reginald Rose and Paddy Chayefsky achieved a level of creativity that has rarely been equaled on television. Since then, despite their success, anthology writers still needed to evade the constraints and censorship of 50s television in order to stay true to their creative powers and political visions. Thus, they worked as new entrepreneurs who adapted their more controversial scripts for the Hollywood, Broadway and book publishing industries. Even after the television networks cancelled their prestigious anthology series at the end of the 50s, the most resilient writers were able to redefine what it meant to be entrepreneurs by launching cutting edge shows such as The Twilight Zone and The Defenders, that are still popular today. The New Entrepreneurs includes detailed textual analysis of legendary, sometimes hard to find television anthology scripts that have received only cursory glances in television history until now.

Jew Vs. Jew Samuel G. Freedman, 2000

At a time when Jews in the United States appear more secure and successful than ever, Freedman maintains that cultural and religious differences are tearing apart their community.

TalentEd Jerry D. Flack, 1993-07-15

With the vision that children can learn well and achieve excellence if provided with opportunity and challenge, Flack offers exciting ideas and strategies to identify and develop the unique talents found in each one. These strategies employ the library media specialist and teacher as allies in the talent development process, and they promote the concept of basic skills beyond literacy and numeracy into goal setting, time management, library research, creative and critical thinking, and problem solving. The activities are designed to promote literacy, integrated learning, diversity, and academic excellence. Grades K-12.
