

Constitutional Issue in Education

2002/03: The Education

Blacks at this time considered Britain to be a monarchy. They wanted a constitutional system where there would be a monarch who would be a ceremonial figurehead, but who would not have any political power.

14. They believed that as monarchs are the people that they could not have any political power and so they considered it as a duty.

Their duties were to sign laws that they had passed and to give the royal assent to laws that they had passed.

15. It was also believed that the king or queen should not have any political power and so they considered it as a duty.
