

FLOSSIE & THE FOX STUDY GUIDE

Paul Mesner's puppet production of Flossie & the Fox is adapted from Patricia McKissack's popular picture book of the same name. If you only do one thing in class before attending Paul's performance, read the book aloud to your students.

Once you do, however, you will be hard pressed to stop there! Your students will immediately light up with the satisfaction of recognizing the obvious parallels between Flossie's story and an old favorite - the story of Little Red Riding Hood.

Oral Tradition & Language

Before we delve into Red Riding Hood comparisons, and even before you read the story of Flossie & the Fox to your kids, read aloud and share with your students Patricia McKissack's note at the beginning of the book, where she discusses the origin of the Flossie story, and the storytelling legacy from whence it came.

The story of Flossie & the Fox, among many others, was passed down and transmitted through generations of the McKissack family through oral tellings. For the African-American community, storytelling has a particularly powerful legacy. In early America, as slaves, African-Americans were not allowed by law to read or write. Although many brave souls carried on covert lessons in reading and writing within the slave community, the spoken word was the primary vehicle in transmitting knowledge, history and story. The momentum of the spoken word carried on beyond the emancipation of slaves, and to this day storytelling continues to play a vital, although diminishing, role in African-American culture.

In general, the oral tradition is diminishing - as the workaday world demands more and more of our time and we yield more and more of our children's free time to electronic media (TV, computers, etc), there is less family time, less conversation, and less opportunity for the transmittal of family stories - the very stories that help us understand who we are, where we come from, where we are going.

Family Stories / Journal :

After reading McKissack's note, discuss some of the ideas presented above and ask the kids to share any family stories they might have. Ask them to talk to a grandparent, a parent, an aunt or an uncle. Their goal: to get a family story - a story about something that happened before they were born - write it down the way they heard it, and bring it back to share with the class. Expand the idea into a Family Journal and make it a year-long project. Every few weeks they retrieve a new story from a relative and compile each entry in a journal. The journal becomes a sort of quilt, a patchwork of their heritage and family history. This project will perpetuate itself - every new piece of the "quilt" will expose another missing piece, another story to retrieve. Entries will constantly move within the journal as new entries find their place in time and space.
