Last Man Standing Jack Straw, 2012-09-27 As a small boy in Epping Forest Jack Straw could never have imagined that one day he would become Britain's Lord Chancellor As one of five children of divorced parents he was bright enough to get a scholarship to a direct grant school but spent his holidays as a plumbers mate for his uncles to bring in some much needed extra income Yet he spent 13 years and 11 days in government including long and influential spells as Home Secretary and Foreign Secretary This is the story of how he got there His memoirs offer a unique insight into the complex sometimes self serving but always fascinating world of British politics and reveals the toll that high office takes but more importantly the enormous satisfaction and extraordinary privilege of serving both your constituents and your country Straw s has been a very public life but he reveals the private face too and offers readers a vivid and authoritative insight into the Blair Brown era and indeed the last forty years of British politics

Fueling Freedom Stephen Moore, Kathleen Hartnett White, 2016-05-23 Fossil fuel energy is the lifeblood of the modern world Before the Industrial Revolution humanity depended on burning wood and candle wax But with the ability to harness the energy in oil and other fossil fuels quality of life and capacity for progress increased exponentially Thanks to incredible innovations in the energy industry fossil fuels are as promising safe and clean an energy resource as has ever existed in history Yet highly politicized climate policies are pushing a grand scale shift to unreliable impractical incredibly expensive and far less efficient energy sources Today fossil fuel has become such a dirty word that even fossil fuel companies feel compelled to apologize for their products In Fueling Freedom energy experts Stephen Moore and Kathleen Hartnett White make an unapologetic case for fossil fuels turning around progressives protestations to prove that if fossil fuel energy is supplanted by green alternatives for political reasons humanity will take a giant step backwards and the planet will be less safe less clean and less free
