

Lazarus and folkman's transactional model of stress and coping (1984)

STRENGTHS	LIMITATIONS
Unlike GAS it does not overlook cognitive processes and individual differences	Hard to test through experimental research
Appraisals help explain how different individuals respond to the same stress differently	Subjective in nature due to complexity of individual responses.
Provides coping strategies	Some argue we don't need to appraise a situation in order for it to be stressful, unconsciously we can be stressed about situations

Theory-Directed Nursing Practice Shirley Melat Ziegler, 2005-04-26 The second edition of this popular textbook continues to demonstrate the application of theory to nursing practice presenting a clear strategy for choosing and applying specific theories to specific clinical situations Each chapter follows a common format a case is presented along with several possible theories that might be applied to it Each theory includes a concise description with references and recommended readings for those who want more in depth coverage Finally one theory is selected for each case and is described in detail ultimately creating a nursing care plan with support from the theory In all nearly 10 middle range theories are presented New to this edition is a selection in each chapter about research supporting the theories discussed In recognition that a case study format can not encompass all practice circumstances the final chapter provides the framework for using the strategy in any clinical situation Handbook of Adult Resilience John W. Reich,Alex J. Zautra,John Stuart Hall,2010-01-04 What enables people to bounce back from stressful experiences How do certain individuals maintain a sense of purpose and direction over the long term even in the face of adversity This is the first book to move beyond childhood and adolescence to explore resilience across the lifespan Coverage ranges from genetic and physiological factors through personal family organizational and community processes Contributors examine how resilience contributes to health and well being across the adult life cycle why and what happens when resilience processes fail ethnic and cultural dimensions of resilience and ways to enhance adult resilience including reviews of exemplary programs The Handbook of Stress Science Richard Contrada,Andrew Baum,2010-09-29 For those who are entering the field or who want to broaden their perspective I believe that this Handbook is indispensable More than just a contribution to the field the Handbook may well become a classic PsycCRITIQUES The editors fully achieved their goal of producing a state of the science stress reference for use by investigators educators and practitioners with clinical and health interests Psycho Oncology This is an important book about the scientific study of stress and human adaptation It brings together both empirical data and theoretical developments that address the fundamental question of how psychosocial variables get inside the body to influence neurobiological processes that culminate in physical disease From the Foreword by David C Glass PhD Emeritus Professor of Psychology Stony Brook University Edited by two leading health psychologists The Handbook of Stress Science presents a detailed overview of key topics in stress and health psychology With discussions on how stress influences physical health including its effects on the nervous endocrine cardiovascular and immune systems the text is a valuable source for health psychologists as well as researchers in behavioral medicine neuroscience genetics clinical and social psychology sociology and public health This state of the art resource reviews conceptual developments empirical findings clinical applications and investigative strategies and tools from the past few decades of stress research It represents all major approaches to defining stress and describes the themes and developments that characterize the field of health related stress research The five sections of this handbook cover Current knowledge regarding the major biological structures and systems that are involved in the stress response Social contextual contributions to stress and to processes of adaptation to stress including the workplace socioeconomic status and social support The concept of cognitive appraisal as it relates to stress and emotion psychological factors influencing stress such as personality gender and adult development The evidence linking stress to health related behaviors and mental and physical health outcomes Research methods tools and strategies including the principles and techniques of both laboratory experimentation and naturalistic stress research Stress and
