Modernity and the English Rural Novel Dominic Head,2017-04-07 This book examines the persistence of the rural tradition in the English novel into the twentieth century In the shadow of metropolitan literary culture rural writing can seem to strive for a fantasy version of England with no compelling social or historical relevance Dominic Head argues that the apparent disconnection is in itself a response to modernity rather than a refusal to engage with it and that the important writers in this tradition have had a significant bearing on the trajectory of English cultural life through the twentieth century At the heart of the discussion is the English rural regional novel of the 1920s and 1930s which reveals significant points of overlap with mainstream literary culture and the legacies of modernism Rural writers refashioned the conventions of the tradition and the effects of literary nostalgia to produce the swansong of a fading genre with resonances that are still relevant today The Birth of Liberal Guilt in the English Novel Daniel Born,1995 Daniel Born explores the concept of liberal guilt as it first developed in British political and literary culture between the late Romantic period and World War I Disturbed by the twin spectacle of urban poverty at home and imperialism abroad major nove British Writing from Empire to Brexit Robert Spencer,Howard J. history and politics or with an interest in empire and Brexit      Portable Modernisms Emily Ridge, 2017-06-23 Luggage is an overlooked detail in the stock sketch of the expatriated modernist writer from the valise fashioned desks of both James Joyce and Vladimir Nabokov to the lost manuscript laden cases of Ernest Hemingway and Walter Benjamin While the trope of modernist exile has long been spotlighted little attention has been given to the material meaning of this condition What things and objects do modernism's exiles and emigres carry with them and how does the act of carriage enter into the modernist picture more broadly What are the implications and historical resonances of a portable outlook particularly from the angles of gender wartime conflict and character conception Above all how far does such an outlook impact upon artistic vision Portability represents the simultaneous transportation and repudiation of domesticity and the home those key frames of reference in the nineteenth century novel This book examines the multifarious ways in which the emergence of a modern culture of portability prompts a radical if often problematic departure from Victorian architectural conceptions of fiction towards more movable understandings of form and character      English Studies Mehmet Ali Çelikel, Baysar Taniyan, 2015-09-18 This volume offers a selection of revised versions of the papers presented at the 7th International IDEA Conference held at Pamukkale University in Denizli Turkey organised by the Association of English Language and Literary Studies in Turkey The contributions to this book offer a wide range of research from scholars on a variety of topics in English literature including Shakespearean studies Victorian colonial and postcolonial literature poetry and drama studies The volume also includes a number of informative research articles on comparative and translation studies which will offer assistance to young scholars in their academic studies In addition to acting as a guide to young academics the book will also function as a fruitful reference book in a wide range of English literary studies
