right Pirate Lands Ursula Daxecker, Brandon Prins, 2021-01-22 Maritime piracy's improbable re emergence following the end of the Cold War was surprising as the image of pirates evokes masted galleons and cutlasses Yet the number of incidents and their intensity skyrocketed in the 1990s and 2000s off of the coasts of Indonesia Malaysia the Philippines India Bangladesh Nigeria and Somalia As Ursula Daxecker and Brandon Prins demonstrate in Pirate Lands Maritime piracy like civil war terrorism and organized crime is a problem of weak states Surprisingly though pirates do not operate in the least governed areas of weak states Daxecker and Prins address this puzzle by explaining why some coastal communities experience more pirate attacks in their vicinity than others They find that pirates do well in places where elites and law enforcement can be bribed but they also need access to functioning roads ports and markets Using statistical analyses of cross national and sub national data on pirate attacks in Indonesia Nigeria and Somalia Daxecker and Prins detail how governance at the state and local level explain the location of maritime piracy Additionally they employ geo spatial tools to rigorously measure how local political capacity and infrastructure affect maritime piracy Drawing upon interviews with former pirates community members and maritime security experts Pirate Lands offers the first comprehensive social scientific account of a phenomenon whose re appearance after centuries of remission took almost everyone by surprise

Optimal Tourism Development Juan A.

Campos-Soria,2020-11-24 The early days of tourism development had a naive vision of tourism's impacts on society in terms of economic social and environmental benefits Time has passed and we have learnt lessons regarding the success and failure of tourism development Mass tourism development has pros and cons and is not necessarily the optimal development model Alternative development strategies should be contemplated This Special Issue deals with different topics concerning optimal tourism development Destination management requires further understanding of different issues such as carrying capacity income based optimal supply size identification and development of optimal market niches and adaptation or environmental protection strategies Tourism planning is concerned with the role of economies of agglomeration i.e. the advantages of spatial clusters vs scattered development Additionally support for and investment in innovation accessibility and mobility are relevant nowadays From the stakeholders perspective it is relevant to discuss ways of cooperating and sources of conflicts among different sectors and actors governance and incentives for sustainable tourism practices and equity and economic distribution of benefits Finally the development of methodological tools for the assessment of optimal tourism development is necessary for policy making in particular the development of methods that are capable of integrating economic environmental and social criteria
