Language, Identity and Cycling in the New Media Age Patrick Kiernan, 2017-09-21 This book examines how identities associated with cycling are evoked narrated and negotiated in a media context dominated by digital environments Arguing that the nature of identity is being impacted by the changing nature of the material and semiotic resources available for making meaning the author introduces an approach to exploring such identity positioning through the interrelated frameworks of Systemic Functional Linguistics and Multimodal Analysis and illustrates how this happens in practice The book is divided into three parts each of which focuses on a different aspect of identity and media environment Part I considers celebrity identities in the conventional media of print and television Part II investigates community and leisure sporting identity through an online cycling forum while Part III examines corporate identity realised through corporate websites consumer reviews and Youtube channels This unique volume will appeal to students and scholars of discourse analysis applied linguistics and the world of cycling

Resources in Education ,1998 Participatory Design Douglas Schuler,Aki Namioka,2017-12-14 The voices in this collection are primarily those of researchers and developers concerned with bringing knowledge of technological possibilities to bear on informed and effective system design Their efforts are distinguished from many previous writings on system development by their central and abiding reliance on direct and continuous interaction with those who are the ultimate arbiters of system adequacy namely those who will use the technology in their everyday lives and work A key issue throughout is the question of who does what to whom whose interests are at stake who initiates action and for what reason who defines the problem and who decides that there is one The papers presented follow in the footsteps of a small but growing international community of scholars and practitioners of participatory systems design Many of the original European perspectives are represented here as well as some new and distinctively American approaches The collection is characterized by a rich and diverse set of perspectives and experiences that despite their differences share a distinctive spirit and direction a more humane creative and effective relationship between those involved in technology s design and use and between technology and the human activities that motivate the technology
