Raman spectroscopy makes as a non destructive method for characterising the chemical composition of objects with archaeological and historical importance The original book was ground breaking in its concept but the past ten years have seen some advancement into new areas consolidation of some of the older ones and novel applications involving portable instrumentation on site in museums and in the field This new volume maintains the topic at the cutting edge the Editors have approached prominent contributors to provide case studies sorted into themes Starting with a Foreword from the British Museum Director of Scientific Research and an Introduction from the Editors which offer general background information and theoretical context the contributions then provide global perspectives on this powerful analytical tool Aimed at scientists
