Decolonising Journalism Education in South Africa Ms Zubeida Jaffer, Prof. Ylva Rodny-Gumede, Dr Mvuso Ponono, Prof. Colin Chasi, 2021-12-20 With 342 years of colonialism and apartheid in South Africa a book of this calibre is essential to contribute to scholarly debates on the decolonisation of the media After the democratic dispensation in 1994 there was a narrow pursuit of transformation and media freedom while neglecting decolonisation patriarchal tendencies and the plight of black women journalists who are often vilified while discharging their duties It was two decades after democracy that the RhodesMustFall movement which later evolved into FeesMustFall movement reignited debates on decoloniality in the academia Moreover the book is published during the second wave of FeesMustFall student protests and the demand for decolonised free education is inevitable as no permanent solution to student funding crisis was crafted In the same vein the book advocates for decolonised pedagogy in universities including journalism curriculum That ownership of the media is still skewed towards white and with only few black companies gradually joining the industry also brings into doubt media freedom editorial independence ethics and integrity among media practitioners Therefore the decoloniality movement seeks to confront these structural challenges head on via dialogue to ensure the integrity of the journalism profession Decolonising journalism in South Africa is published at a time in which journalism serves a watchdog and a critique of a democratic government and needs to follow a bottom up social justice approach and become a voice to the voiceless Therefore this book seeks to revolutionise the media in a way that even the language of reporting of certain issues needs to be changed to a balanced kind of reporting characterised by principles of no fear or favour

Publishing from the South Sarah Nuttall, Isabel Hofmeyr, 2024-11-01

In 2022 Wits University Press marked its centenary making it the oldest most established university press in sub Saharan Africa While in part modelled on scholarly publishers from the global North it has had to contend with the constraints of working under global South conditions marginalisation within the university budgetary limitations small local markets unequal access to international sales channels and the privileging of English language publishing over indigenous languages This volume explores what the Press has achieved and what its modes of reinvention might look like In widening and deepening our understanding of the Press as an example of a global South scholarly publisher this volume asks how publishing can contribute to a broader understanding of Southern knowledge production Featuring contributions from scholars publishers and authors this multi voiced volume showcases the history of the Press s publishing activities over 100 years from documenting its evolution through book covers and giving credence to some of the leading black intellectuals and writers of the early 20th century and the success of those works in spite of their authors racial marginalisation to the role of women both in publishing and in the spaces afforded to women s writing on the Press s list The collection concludes with essays by contemporary authors who detail not only their experiences of working with Southern publishers but also the politics and influences governing their decisions to choose the Press over a Northern publisher Publishing from the South shows the strategies deployed by the Press to professionalise Southern knowledge making and in the process demonstrating how university presses in the global South support the scholarly missions of their universities for both local and global audiences The Oxford Handbook of Language and Society Ofelia García, Nelson Flores (Linguist), Massimiliano Spotti, 2017 This book challenges basic concepts that have informed the study of sociolinguistics It proposes a critical poststructuralist perspective that examines the socio historical context that led to the emergence of dominant sociolinguistic concepts and develops new theoretical and methodological tools that challenge these dominant concepts Spear Paul S. developments challenge paradigms of truth consciousness and equitable knowledge access The chapters engage with discourses on digital sovereignty postdigital privilege democracy and resistance illustrating how education restructures global power relations Synthesizing perspectives from geopolitics digital transformation and postdigital educational development it underscores understanding education as a contested terrain where global equity inclusion and ethical technological governance are negotiated This book is particularly suited for researchers of postdigital education The Geopolitics of Postdigital Educational Development is complemented by Postdigital Education for Development also edited by Michael A Peters Olivera Kamenarac Ben Green Petar Jandri and Tina Besley      Proceedings of the 23rd European Conference on e-Learning Fernando Moriera,
